Court Rules Against Republican Committee Name in Radio Attack

A show cause order was signed Tuesday afternoon by Supreme Court Justice T. Paul Kane which restrains John E. Egan and H. Clark Bell Jr., "their agents and all other persons" from "in any way using the words and names of Ulster County Republican Committee" and including the name "Ulster County Republican Committee on the Judiciary" in future political broadcasts over station WGHQ.

An advertisement publicizing the program was carried in The Freeman Tuesday evening naming as sponsors the "Ulster County Republican Committee on the Judiciary." The advertisement bore the names of the "Executive Committee" members, Mayor John J. Schwenk; Morris Rosenblum of Saugerties; Charles Relyea (R), Huxley supervisors; Robert F. Phinney, 11th ward supervisor and chairman of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors; Clarence C. Raichle, (R), 12th ward supervisor; Joseph Marorana (R), Town of Plattekill supervisor and an avowed candidate for state senate and Abram F. Molyneux (R), Woodstock supervisor.

The show cause order is returnable Friday before Justice Kane in Albany when a permanent injunction will be sought.

Schwenk Drops Off Committee

"After hearing the Bill Lang tape and Mr. Goldberg's reply on the radio last evening, I have decided to withdraw as a member of the committee sponsoring the series of talks."

This was Mayor John J. Schwenk's statement today. "While I heard most of the tapes before agreeing to lend my name to the committee, I was disappointed that those persons who are primarily responsible for the creation and broadcasting of these tapes did not fit to lend their names to the committee also."

The order was secured by Kenneth L. Wilson, as chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee, to prevent the use of the words "Ulster County Republican Committee" in connection with an announced series of radio talks over station WGHQ in Kingston.

Although the order had been signed by Justice Kane prior to last night's broadcast, a copy of the order had not been served on the two defendants at broadcast time and the program went on the air at 6:30 p. m.

Directed at the use of the words "sponsored by the Ulster County Republican Committee on the Judiciary," the court order was obtained on affidavits by County Chairman Kenneth L. Wilson and John Ray Mayone, Kingston City Republican chairman.

Under the show cause order, the defendants must appear at 10 a. m. Friday before Justice Kane and show cause why a preliminary injunction should not (Continued on Page 12, Col. 4)

U. S. Plans on Building Strength to 60,000 Men

UR Mobile Unit to Be At Stadium

Eric Hemphill, executive director of the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency, asks persons in the uptown UR project area who have questions concerning plans for it, to visit the UR mobile unit, which is to be at the entrance to Dietz Stadium from 7:30 to 9 p. m. this date.

This mobile unit service is similar to that conducted last year in the downtown UR project area, and provides an opportunity for those in the uptown area to become more familiar with UR plans. It is especially intended to accommodate persons who were unable to attend the recent public hearing dealing with the uptown project.

With Hemphill at the unit tonight will be Third Ward Alderman John J. Naccarato, who heads the Common Council's Urban Renewal Committee, and Council Majority Leader John Machione, alderman of the 12th Ward, who heads the Council's Laws and Rules Committee and is a member of the UR committee.

Bombing Of Sites Favored

Soviet Missiles Seen Viet Threat

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said today the United States should bomb Russian-built missile sites in North Vietnam.

The bases, Ford said in an interview with Mutual Broadcasting System, are a threat to the security of American forces in Vietnam.

"There are, therefore, significant military targets which should be bombed by our U. S. forces that are in Vietnam," he said.

Calls for Present Action

"This can be done and should be done at the present time. And it is possible to do it without bombing or destroying nonmilitary targets."

The anti-aircraft missile sites are being prepared near North Vietnam's capital and its chief port.

Any decision on whether the United States should try to knock them out would be up to President Johnson, sources said today.

A key question affecting any such decision is whether the United States intends to bomb Hanoi, the capital, and Haiphong, the vital port.

So far, U. S. bombing planes have struck no closer than about 40 miles from Hanoi and have kept well away from Haiphong.

Close Watch

For about two months, U. S. reconnaissance planes have maintained a close watch on the progress of several sites being prepared for anti-aircraft missiles to defend the Hanoi-Haiphong area.

The State Department reported Tuesday that work on two of the sites is virtually complete and that two other sites have reached an advanced stage.

There is no evidence that any surface-to-air missiles have yet been placed in firing position, the department said.

In late April, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said it should be assumed that the missile sites will become combat ready and that "we are planning" accordingly.

Could Be Costly

Any attempt to smash the missile sites could be costly because the Communists are believed to have concentrated radar-directed anti-aircraft gun batteries in the Hanoi-Haiphong region, center of much of North Vietnam's industry.

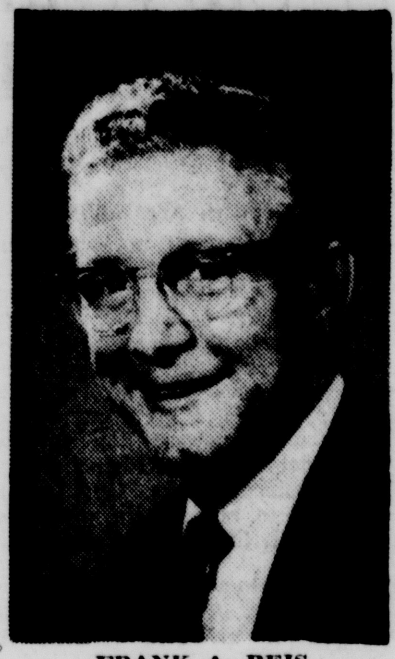

The Reds also could be expected to commit their force of about 50 older model MIG jets, now based at fields near Hanoi, to contest the attack.

There are reports that modern MIG 21 jets may appear soon in North Vietnam. These planes probably could battle U. S. craft on roughly equal terms.

Most bomb runs against targets in North Vietnam have been made at about 2,000 feet altitude. But it appears likely that any attack on the missile sites would be a low level approach—perhaps as close as 50 feet from the ground—to foil the Communist radar.

UR Asks $703,155 State Grant, Chairman Elected

Action authorizing execution of a contract for a $703,155 state capital grant for downtown's Broadway East urban renewal project was taken Tuesday night by the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency, which in its first annual election, chose Frank A. Reis, of 373 Broadway as its chairman.

FRANK A. REIS

David Schechter, of 51 Florence Street, was elected vice chairman, Edmund S. Peppard, of 18 Wurts Street, was re-elected secretary, and William Stophor, of 296 Broadway, was elected treasurer. Stophor was appointed recently to the agency.

Bernard A. Feeney Sr., who had been the agency's first chairman, resigned in April and Reis was named to fill the vacancy on the board. George E. Yerry Jr., who had been vice chairman, served as acting chairman until his term expired June 30. Yerry is chairman of the Kingston Housing Authority.

Eric Hemphill, the agency's executive director, noted that when action is completed on the state federal grant contract for the $703,155 that sum will be the state's full contribution to the net cost of the downtown project.

The city has, to date, obtained a federal loan and grant contract for $2,839,000.

The estimated net cost of the project is $8,690,827. Because (Continued on Page 31, Col. 6)

Marines Send in 3,400 Now

Cong Swarms Dak North of Saigon

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Some 3,400 U. S. Marines landed at two points in central Viet Nam today, and a U. S. spokesman announced 4,600 more would come ashore during the next week to boost American military strength to nearly 60,000 men.

About midway between the two Marine landing points, the district capital of Dak, in the central highlands 280 miles northeast of Saigon, was reported overrun by the Viet Cong Tuesday night and was believed still in Communist hands late today. A U. S. spokesman said an American adviser with a relief unit was wounded when the relief force was ambushed and forced back.

500 Tons of Bombs

As the Marines began coming ashore, about 25 B52 bombers of the U. S. Strategic Air Command flew 2,200 miles from Guam and dropped about 500 tons of bombs on an area in the Communist-infested D Zone jungle 35 miles northeast of Saigon. A U. S. spokesman said no ground assessment of the damage had been made yet.

It was the third raid on a D Zone area by the huge eight-jet bombers.

U. S. Army paratroopers combining another sector of D Zone with a force of Vietnamese and Australian troops got into an intense, half-hour clash with the Viet Cong today about 25 miles northeast of Saigon and were pinned down briefly by machine-gun fire.

Silent Casualties

A U. S. spokesman declined to say if there were any American casualties. He said the Viet Cong broke off the attack after helicopters began strafing the area.

The operation began Tuesday. The combined force blew up Viet Cong tunnels and abandoned huts, but made only negligible contact with the enemy Tuesday.

U. S. officials reported that American forces during the past week had suffered 81 casualties, making it one of the bloodier weeks to date for the Americans. The officials said 18 Americans were missing.

Vietnamese government casualties for the week were estimated at 1,075, including 265 killed, and Viet Cong losses at 976 killed.

A U. S. spokesman claimed 28 Viet Cong were killed and 280 buildings destroyed by air strikes against Communist positions in South Viet Nam today.

Swarming in from U. S. Navy ships in the South China Sea, about 2,000 Marines landed 10 miles north of the big air base at Da Nang, where some 9,500 Marines are already stationed.

Up to State Legislatures

Both Houses Approve Disability Amendment

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has given its final stamp of approval, and now it's up to the state legislatures to decide whether an amendment covering presidential disability should be added to the Constitution.

Sponsors believe that sometime in 1967 the proposal will be approved as the 25th Amendment by the legislatures of 38 states—three-fourths of the nation's 50 states.

Such action thus would seal into the Constitution the first definitive answer to the query of John Dickinson of Delaware when he asked the Constitutional Convention in 1787:

"What is the extent of the term 'disability' and who is to be the judge of it?"

Senate approval of the proposed amendment came Tuesday on a 68-5 roll call vote. Voting against it were Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, Eugene J. McCarthy and Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., and John G. Tower, R-Tex.

House Voted Wednesday

The House had given its approval on a voice vote last Wednesday. President Johnson's signature is not required.

The proposed amendment would supplant a provision of Article II, Section 1, of the Constitution.

Article II says that in the case of the inability of the president to carry out his duties "the same shall devolve on the vice president." It stipulates that Congress can provide for the inability of both the president and vice president, set up a line of succession to the office, with such officer to act as president "until the disability be removed, or a president shall be elected."

In acting on the proposed 25th Amendment, the Senate brushed aside Gore's contentions that the language needed further clarification.

Debate centered on a provision under which the vice president and a majority of the Cabinet or such other body as Congress might set up—could notify Congress in writing that the president was unable to perform his duties and the vice president would take over.

However, if the president sent a written declaration to Congress that he had no disability, he would resume his office unless the vice president and a majority of the Cabinet notified Congress of their disagreement within four days.

If it were not in session, Congress would be required to meet in 48 hours and resolve the dispute within 21 days. If both houses decided by a two-thirds majority vote that the president was disabled, the vice president would continue to function. Otherwise the president would resume office.

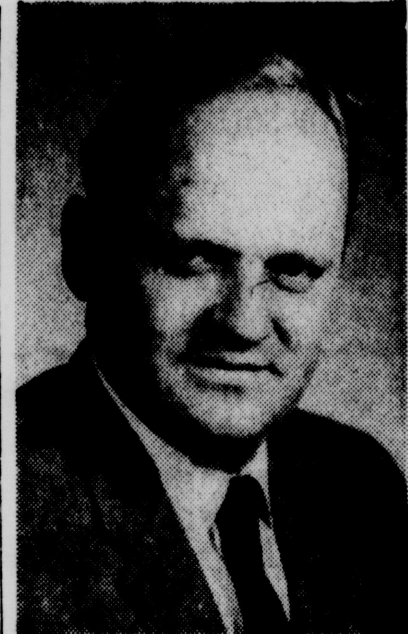

Tyranny Fears

Gore told the Senate he would not like to speculate that "some diabolical character" some day might become vice president and take advantage of the provisions to oust a president. He said such a vice president could gain acting status and appoint a Cabinet to help him keep it. If a Cabinet gave him a majority but another body set up by Congress didn't agree, he asked, "Who would control?"

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., sponsor of the measure, said that if Congress established another body, it would supersede the Cabinet.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said that to give Gore's fears substance, "you'd have to assume a venal vice president" acting in league with "venal Cabinet members."

"I doubt if we need to be afraid of the ghosts that have (Continued on Page 31, Col. 6)

EDWARD C. BYMAN

Name Chairman Of Chest Drive; $225,000 Goal

The Ulster County Community Chest announced today the appointment of Edward C. Byman as Chairman of the 1966 Community Chest Campaign.

Byman will head the Chest's drive towards the goal of $225,000, which was announced last week by Joseph J. Benjamin, Chest president. The drive will begin in September.

Byman, who resides at 8 Chestnut Street, Rolling Meadows with his wife and five children is Special Products Manager at I.B.M. in Kingston. He received his education at the University of Connecticut, having been awarded a Bachelor of Science Degree in Electrical Engineering. He is a member of Eta Kappa Nu and Tau Beta Phi honorary societies. Byman formerly was treasurer of the Hurley Little League.

During the 1965 Campaign, he was Associate Campaign Chairman and in 1964 served as Pace-maker Division Chairman.

The Community Chest serves 12 social agencies in Ulster County. The campaign goal, based on the budgets of these agencies, is established by the Chest Board of Directors, after study and recommendations by the Budget Committee, and the Campaign Cabinet. This year, a professional survey team engaged by the Citizens Survey Committee of Ulster County, participated in the Budget and Cabinet meetings as observers.

Last fall the Chest raised $202,000. This year's goal represents a 12 per cent increase over 1965 receipts. According to Byman, the 1966 goal is modest if we consider the swelling requirements for agency services generated by a constantly growing area population.

Water Shortage Federal Issue, Javits Declares

WASHINGTON (AP)—The ultimate cure for New York State's water shortage must be provided at the national level, in the opinion of Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y.

Javits is toying with the idea of asking President Johnson to call a White House conference on water resources.

Such a gathering would discuss not only the drought of this and the last several years in the northeast, but the nation's future water needs, in the light of its ever increasing population, Javits said.

Must Be All-Out Fight

"It's up to the federal government, in conjunction and cooperation with state and local authorities, to wage an all-out war on drought and to win it," Javits stated.

Last week, the Agriculture Department, because of the drought, granted farmers in 45 counties permission to cut hay and graze cattle on land taken out of production under the federal soil bank, feed grain and wheat programs.

But Javits called programs such as this emergency measures "like modern drugs—they treat the symptoms but make no claim at being able to cure the disease."

Study Proposed

He has some support for a national approach to the problem from an administration report submitted recently to the Senate Interior Committee.

The Budget Bureau, in the report, recommended creation of a national water commission now to undertake a five-year study.

This program should include, Javits says, expansion of federal aid to public and non-profit agencies for development of rural water areas—a proposal now before the Senate—acceleration of the federal saline water conversion program, and expansion of water pollution control programs "to conserve what resources we now have."

South, West Rainy; Chilly in Northeast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms and rain pummeled scattered sections of the Midwest and Southeast early today and an unseasonal chill dipped into portions of the Northeast.

But there was only a little break in the crippling drought that gripped portions of the Southwest, the Northeast and sections of the Far West.

Rain fell over wide sections of the Midwest, starting mostly late Tuesday night.

Among low eastern readings today was 38 degrees at Old Town, Maine.

Tornadoes and heavy rain, in some places accompanied by hail, struck portions of the nation's midsection Tuesday.

Wide sections of Minnesota reported up to one inch of rain, and in the Twin Cities more than 1½ inches fell Tuesday. At least two tornadoes dipped over Minnesota towns during the day.

In the Chicago area, more than two inches of rain fell over a wide section north and southwest of the city. Some utility lines were downed, causing power breaks from 30 minutes to two hours.

A tornado was sighted over Chicago's South Side in the early evening. A tornado did some property damage near Milledgeville, in Carroll County, in winds uprooted trees and northwestern Illinois. Tornado winds uprooted trees and downed utility lines at Crystal Lake, Ill., about 50 miles north of Chicago, where heavy tornado damage occurred in the spring.

Drought in Delaware Basin Subject of Hearing Today

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Delaware River Basin Commission begins hearing testimony today concerning a possible declaration of a drought emergency in the basin area.

A commission spokesman said Tuesday that under a state of emergency, the commission would be empowered to:—Reallocate waters from a surplus water area to a shortage area, where possible;—Seek new supplies of water, possibly from some reservoirs not contributing to stream flow;—And if necessary, ration water. This step is not currently considered likely.

In addition, New York City is expected to reply to proposals made by the commission to settle a water dispute between the city and the four basin states.

Under a U. S. Supreme Court decree, New York City is allowed to divert 490 million gallons per day from the Catskill area of the basin—equivalent to about one-third of the city's water supply. In exchange, the city must maintain a minimum flow of 1,525 cubic feet per second, of the river at Montague, N.J.

The city, accused of violating this agreement, has argued that not enough water is available to satisfy the requirement. New Jersey Gov. Richard Hughes (Continued on Page 31, Col. 1)

Effort Made in House to Form Coalition on GOP Vote Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Efforts to build a Republican-Southern Democratic coalition in support of a Republican substitute for the administration's voting rights bill were under way today in the House.

The move suffered a setback Tuesday when Rep. John V. Lindsay, R-N.Y., GOP candidate for mayor of the city of New York, came out strongly for the administration measure.

But the coalition got a big push from Rep. Howard Smith, D-Va., chairman of the House Rules Committee.

Smith, speaking to his Southern colleagues as the House opened debate on the legislation, told them the administration version was venal and flagrantly unconstitutional. But he said they could support the Republican bill.

"See how it lacks the dripping venom that pours from every paragraph and sentence of the (administration) bill," said Smith of the GOP measure. It is cosponsored by House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford and Rep. William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio, senior Republican on the Judiciary Committee.

McCulloch said his bill was fairer and sounder than the administration one, and added some arguments designed to appeal to Southerners.

"Under the Ford-McCulloch bill there will be no 'carpetbagger' examiners from far away places to perform their important duties in strange surroundings," he said. He referred to a provision requiring that federal registrars activated under the bill be residents of the state in which they are to serve. There is no restriction on the residence of such officials in the administration bill.

McCulloch also said his bill, "respects state interests in literacy qualifications and recognizes the constitutional rights of a state to enact and maintain its own nondiscriminatory voting qualification laws." He said the administration's measure does not do this.

The administration bill would automatically suspend literacy tests in seven Southern states—Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina,

South Carolina and Virginia—where less than 50 per cent of the adult population voted or was registered last November. Federal examiners could then be sent in to register qualified Negroes.

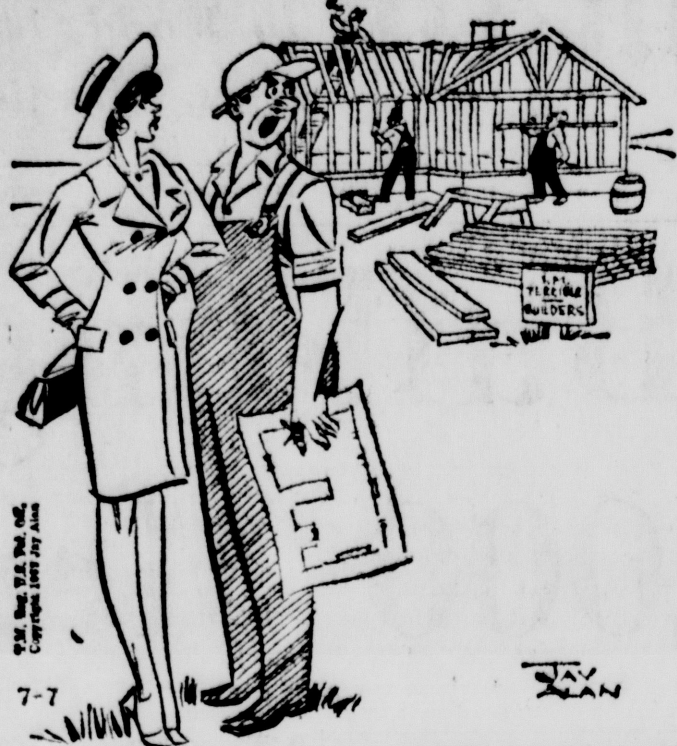

The GOP bill would authorize examiners only in areas where 25 residents complained of being denied the right to register or vote because of race or color. Literacy tests would be suspended in such areas only for persons having a sixth-grade education.

Lindsay, who had voted for the administration bill in preference to the GOP substitute in the Judiciary Committee, said he would do so again on the House floor when a vote on final passage comes, probably on Friday.

In spite of some shortcomings, he said, "it is directed at a fundamental problem that is degrading this country today and its provisions offer an efficient means of dealing with that problem."

The strength of the GOP-Southern Democratic coalition won't be tested until Thursday when voting will begin on amendments to the bill.

MODERN MAIDENS

"Hold it boys, she's changed her mind. She wants the house built on the lot across the street."

Wilderness Survival School Is Described

By SALLY RYAN

BREITENBUSH LAKE, Ore. (AP) — We were lost in the fog on a snowpatched hill, high in Oregon's Cascade Mountains. A gale wind threatened to blow us into an ice-covered pond 15 feet below.

It was a night of terror. But we survived it, and seven other nights like it in freezing temperatures, with no food except what we could carry.

There were 16 of us — 10 men and 6 women—ranging in age from 15 to 48, taking part in a wilderness survival school.

We went into the mountains 70 miles southwest of Portland armed only with hunting knives and survival kits, consisting mainly of fishing gear and one match for each day.

We hiked 45 miles with 20-pound backpacks — a physician, a mailman, a transportation company comptroller, two housewives, two teachers and a sprinkling of students, few of whom ever had been in the back country before.

Food Big Worry

At first, we worried primarily about food.

We stopped at a restaurant for a last cup of coffee, and found a black and white puppy. I wanted to take him along.

"Don't," advised Odd Bjerke, a native of Norway who conducts survival training exercises for military and civilian groups. "You'll eat it."

We left the puppy behind. That night we went to bed hungry, wet and exhausted.

The second day we ate wild sorrel, broiled ferns and skunk cabbage.

By the third day we were listless and wobbly, talking of nothing but food.

Then Mrs. Bjerke, a 100-pound elf who grew up on the Oregon coast hunting bullfrogs, clubbed a water snake to death. Another crew came up with a sack of salamanders. Someone caught a frog.

We ate only the tails of the salamander, but were so hungry we used them twice: once boiled for soup and then roasted to eat like shrimp. You must be very hungry to spend 10 minutes skinning one tail, but we were very hungry.

Reptiles Are Edible

The snake, cut up, was soup, boiled and roasted.

Actually, all reptiles are edible. Bjerke said the poisonous ones — such as rattlesnakes — actually taste the best. We never saw any to check.

More than a mile above sea level with snow still melting we saw deer tracks only once and one squirrel as we hiked out. So we had to rely on the plants we picked on the way up and on the streams.

There always were streams to fish or to fall into, and fish, baked or smoked, formed the basis of our diet the final days — after we reached Dark Lake, where the fish were biting.

Bjerke said most plants are edible. To test one, put about a teaspoon in your mouth, chew it five minutes and if there is no stinging, swallow it. Wait eight hours. If you have suffered no ill effect, eat more of it.

Manna From Heaven

On the fifth day, manna fell from heaven, on two orange and white parachutes. Food for one day was dropped — a chicken, potatoes, carrots, bread, ice cream and candy bars.

The whole crew was up at daylight to begin marking the bluff for the air drop — burning green boughs, and a smoke bomb, strewn yellow and red shirts and ponchos on the rocks, and flashing mirrors.

But by then we no longer worried much about food. We knew we could live 30 days without food and if we conserved our energy, but only 10 without water. And we could freeze to death in a matter of hours.

By the eighth and final night, we agreed water was the most important concern in the wilderness. Then warmth, dryness and food, in that order.

It is Bjerke's theory that nature and the elements are neither special friends nor enemies — that it is up to the individual and how he treats them whether he survives.

I survived, and if I can, any one can.

Franklin Can Still Fight Bulls

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — At age 62 Sidney Franklin says he can still fight the bulls.

Franklin, the man from Brooklyn who became the greatest bullfighter produced in America, lives at Bay View, Tex., in the Rio Grande Valley, where he works with bulls and hopeful bullfighters.

A proud, confident man, he takes great delight in being the only American to teach Spaniards how to fight bulls. A few years ago he owned a bullring in Spain. A star pupil was Jaime Ostos, now a top matador.

Franklin, visiting here, was asked if he still could fight the bulls.

"Certainly, why not?"

"Well, it's been a long time."

"Not so long. My last official fight was in Reynosa, just four years ago."

"You mean you fought bulls at the age of 58?"

"Yes, but the bulls didn't know my age."

Dirksen Would Have Voters Make Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said today he doesn't believe a filibuster can halt Senate action on a proposed constitutional amendment on legislative reapportionment.

Dirksen said in an interview he hopes to pry out of the Senate Judiciary Committee shortly an amendment which would permit the voters in each state to determine whether one house of their legislature should be elected on other than a population basis.

Bus Strike Averted

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Employees of a city-operated transit system ratified their first union contract Tuesday night, averting a bus strike threatened for midnight.

The 32-month pact between the city and Amalgamated Transit Union AFL-CIO, will mean 55 cents an hour in salary and benefit increases for the drivers, a union official, Darwin H. Bohn, reported.

Couple Staying In House Despite Race Harassment

EAST MEADOW, N.Y. (AP) — "It makes me mad," said Tamara Wright. "We're definitely not going to move."

"I am going to be here when all of these others move," said her husband, Vincent Wright.

The interracial couple had two windows of their house broken Monday night when someone lighted firecrackers taped to the windows.

Mrs. Wright, 24, who is white, and her husband, a 31-year-old junior high school teacher who is Negro, said today that the incident was part of a continuing pattern of harassment which has grown more serious in recent days.

A seven-foot cross was burned on the front lawn of the couple's house last week, and there have been acts of vandalism on Wright's car. Police are continuing an investigation.

Tuesday night, some 30 persons representing various organizations in Nassau County met at Wright's house to map action in efforts to halt the harassment.

From Judge to Judge

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — New Mexico's newest district court judge got some advice from a veteran jurist as he was sworn in Tuesday.

Supreme Court Chief Justice David W. Carmody told Judge Matias A. Zamora, "Remember that a lazy judge is a poor one. Don't be dismayed when reversed. Remember there are no unimportant cases. Don't forget your common sense."

His last piece of advice: "Pray for divine guidance."

Retirement Didn't Fit Danny Thomas As He Planned It

By DANNY THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — I had some pretty great ideas when I "retired" from show business in 1963 after 11 years of doing a weekly television series.

I was going to do what my pals had been telling me to do for years — take it easy and count my money. I had plans for lolling around the pool, playing golf with my pals and spending a lot more time with my family.

Those first few days were great — both of them. Then anxiety set in.

I found out that my family had other things to do besides sitting around visiting with me. My wife had interests of her own. My daughter Marlo was up to her ears in her own acting career.

Another of my children was working in an office, and the third was in school. Even my parakeet would have deserted me if I had left his cage open.

What about all those pals who were going to play golf with me? They couldn't take time. They were all busy working.

I decided that retirement wasn't all it's cracked up to be. I had to do something in self-defense. So I decided to go back to work.

When NBC offered to let me do five specials a year — specials of my own choice — I grabbed the offer, and I don't think I've ever been happier.

I get a kick out of casting these shows and working on them until they're just the way I want them.

I'm a firm believer that when a network gives you the show the tag of "special" it had better be really special.

I just don't seem to have any free time now, but I'll never go back to doing a weekly show. They are a constant grind and sometimes monotonous to do.

So I'm no longer retired — just tired. A horse should have a schedule like mine.

But I have no regrets, and no plans to try the retirement bit again. I have learned one thing about old guys like me. We don't keep doing this for money. We've got to keep on performing just to stay alive.

Trio Has Success In All 50 States, Tokyo and Paris

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — As Yarrow, Stookey and Travers, they might have achieved success. Fortunately for folkies, the trio chose to bill themselves by their first names.

Peter, Paul and Mary have become what variety calls a boff act. So boff, in fact, that they can almost fill the echoing Hollywood Bowl with clamorous fans, as they did last Friday night.

The same sort of thing happens everywhere they go, and they have gone into most of the 50 states and as far afield as Tokyo and Paris in the four years they have been singing together. Their records sell in the millions — say about five. These sales came from a mere five albums; they conscientiously refuse to sacrifice volume to quality.

Real Closeup

Their concert here afforded a closeup view of the successful triumvirate. All are in their late 20s. Their conversation veers to causes, from the purity of folk music to civic rights.

To differentiate, Mary Travers wears her straw-colored hair long; the other two have black goatees. Paul Stookey is balding, the trio's comic; Peter Yarrow is stern-minded and the usual spokesman.

"We all had been working separately, and Paul was the only one who was making any money," said Peter. "We were brought together by Albert Grossman, the man who has managed Joan Baez, Bob Dylan, Odette and many others. He saw something in each of us."

Their first date was at a New York folk house called the Bitter End, which wasn't the least bit prophetic. Audiences knew they were listening to something unique and exciting, even if show business moguls didn't.

"RCA-Victor didn't feel we were ready to record," Peter recalled. "Columbia Records would have signed us if we changed our material. The Bell Telephone Hour and the night club, the Blue Angel, would have taken us if we had shaved our beards. In each case, we declined."

Warner Bros. Records was pleased to accept the singers bearded and with their original material. Three months after being rejected by RCA-Victor, Peter, Paul and Mary had the best-selling album in the country.

Peter's conclusion: "The impact of a new success is in direct ratio to its degree of departure from the previous norm."

How did he get his name? It was shortened from Zip code.

Grand Slam Bid by Gerber Cue

By JACOBY & SON
1965 Vanderbilt Cup Winners
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The Jacobys discuss the way to ask for kings via the Gerber convention.

Jim: "When John Gerber uses his convention and follows up the four club request for aces by the cheapest possible bid in a new suit he is asking for kings."

Oswald: "That's fine for John. But those of us who use his convention sparingly find that this causes too much confusion and we follow up with five clubs as a request to show kings. It seems to work out very well."

Jim: "We don't get to use this king request often, but here is a hand I had with Judy (Mrs. James Jacoby) recently which gave her an opportunity to bid for fine grand slam."

Oswald: "I assume that you sat South and that Judy went into the Gerber routine after your jump rebid of two no-trump."

Jim: "It was barely possible that I could have jumped to two no-trump with only one ace. In that case Judy had planned to sign off at four no-trump. Had I shown two aces she planned to bid six spades. When I showed three aces Judy saw that we would have 13 top tricks at no-trump if I could produce the two kings that she missed. When I bid five spades to show those two kings she went right to seven no-trump and of course we had those 13 top tricks."

Oswald: "I think a little further comment on Judy's plan to stop at four no-trump if you showed only one ace is appropriate. You must have been playing duplicate and Judy could see that in order for you to bid that two no-trump with only one ace you would have to be loaded with kings, queens and jacks and that the hand would make as many tricks at no-trump as spades."

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

I received an interesting clipping from Robert L. Dorfner which he sent from the Peekskill Daily Star. It tells about the Westchester Chapter of the Steamship Historical Society of America. It seems the mother chapter was formed in 1935 to bring together amateur and professional historians interested in the history and development of steam navigation. In 1950 the society was incorporated as a tax exempt educational corporation, and now has a membership of over 1,000 and functions in cooperation with marine museums in the United States and Canada. They have over 100 periodical subscriptions as well as brochures, pamphlets, deck plans and other marine information among the library's services.

Their library alone has a photo bank of over 10,000 steamship photographs, including many donated from private collections. Members may buy copies of any picture to which the society holds reproduction rights. Membership in the national organization entitles one to participate in local chapter activities which usually have monthly meetings. One then automatically receives a subscription to the society's quarterly journal, Steamboat Bill.

One of the group's projects now is collecting photographs of the fast-disappearing ferries which once constituted a major source of short-distance transportation in this country. No doubt they have no end of pictures of our local Brinckerhoff, last ferryboat with a walking beam, which was built in 1899 in Newburgh. Only recently the powers that be decided to burn it and completely destroy it.

When I think of all the money, millions going to countries that love us not, if some of it would be spent on preserving our historic items like the Brinckerhoff ferry instead of allowing it to be condemned and destroyed. We could have a ferry across the Hudson to this day, for those who desire to cross the river in that fashion. It would give men work, and people pleasure for a small fee. It might even pay for itself in good weather.

This Westchester Chapter of Steamship Historical Society of America is planning an 18-day trip in July of 1966, which will include a five-day steamer ride on the Rhine River from Basel, Switzerland to Rotterdam, Holland, and a steamer trip on Lac Lemman. Wherever possible the group will travel by water rather than by train or air. They also have earlier plans for a weekend cruise on the SS Chesapeake owned by the Chesapeake Day Line. They also have several meetings a year at seaports where they can visit ships or take short water trips.

An illustration shows William

G. Muller of Yonkers, artist and vice chairman holding up large nautical paintings of steamers Robert Fulton and Alexander Hamilton. Also in the picture are other officers of the group.

During my youth, the Hudson River meant a great deal to us. We knew all the Dayline boats and went down to Kingston Point for a trip, we could recognize the different boats, and usually preferred the largest ones, and were disappointed when one of the smaller vessels came along. The youth of today have no idea of travel on large steamers on the Hudson. It is a generation that perhaps will never set foot on a Hudson River steamer or perhaps even a train. I can see how the Aug. 19 Robert Fulton stamp and his steamer, the Clermont, are unknown to the school children of today.

Induct Officers For '65-66 Year, Phoenicia Rotary

Joseph Eisenbeil, Phoenicia, restaurateur, was inducted as president of the Phoenicia Rotary Club for 1965-1966 at a meeting July 1.

In his address to the club, president Eisenbeil stressed the role of Rotary as a service club, stating that service must not be just a state of mind, but must translate itself into objective activity.

During the past month the club presented a $300 scholarship to an Onteora graduate and the membership donated $5,000 for an emergency room at the new Benedictine Hospital. During the coming month, the club members will call upon residents of the Town of Shandaken to raise an additional $20,000 for the hospital building fund.

Other new officers introduced were: Eugene Bormley Jr., vice president; Herman Hucker, secretary; Samuel Porter, treasurer; and Frank Crnkovic, sergeant-at-arms.

Pontis Have Session Put Over to Oct. 21

ROME (AP) — Italy brought Academy Award winning actress Sophia Loren and movie producer Carlo Ponti to trial Tuesday in a Rome criminal court on bigamy charges.

The court formally opened the case and then, after a 30-minute session, granted the movie couple's request for a postponement. The next session was set for Oct. 21.

Neither Miss Loren nor Ponti were in court. They are doing film work outside Italy. Their attorneys represented them.

KINGSTON NEW YORK, JULY 7, 1965

JUICY AEC PLUM

Federal spending on scientific research is a succulent pie nourishing a fortunate few of our states, cities, universities, industries and private laboratories.

Though enlarged and rebaked by the congressional chefs in Washington every fiscal year, there are inevitably more political thumbs thrust into it than there are juicy plums to be retrieved.

Currently one of the most sought-after of these goodies is a $280-million, 200-BEV (billion electron volt) nuclear particle accelerator the Atomic Energy Commission plans to build.

The AEC is looking around for a suitable site and a raft of governors, mayors, senators, congressmen and college presidents are helping the commission.

"Never," says Science magazine, "has a proposed scientific facility so stirred up the academic, scientific and political worlds."

The Indiana General Assembly, informed by Gov. Roger D. Branigin that the accelerator is the "scientific prize of the century," unanimously voted to spend $10 million to lure the AEC to that state.

Indiana is meeting hot competition from its next-door neighbor Ohio, and other regions are bombarding the AEC with reasoned and detailed proposals on why the accelerator should be located in their particular backyards.

The scramble will not be ended even when the site is finally selected by the end of this year. There will be, says Science, some 40 or 50 also-rans who can be expected to sharpen and intensify their tactics when the next such "prize" is announced.

PRIVACY GUIDELINES

Quite a little attention has been focused lately on invasion of privacy by units of the federal government. The public has been aware that thousands of government employees are given "lie detector" tests or psychological tests featuring intimate personal questions, that the Post Office prides into who gets mail from whom, that there is a lot of authorized and unauthorized listening-in on phone talk in government offices, and so on.

Congressional committee probes have brought most of these disclosures. That is the first half of a pattern that has emerged. The second half, more often than not, is a promise by the offending agency that it will be less snoop—less in violation of the basic American right to privacy—than in the past.

The State Department, for example, has been reviewing use of psychological tests, and may modify its practices. Postmaster General Gronouski, after admitting that the so-called mail covers "do to some degree invade individual rights," has issued new administrative rules intended to keep this extra-legal practice under better control.

This is an unsatisfactory way to deal with a problem that touches closely on a constitutional right we should be zealous to preserve—the right to live our private lives without government prying. The pattern of disclosure followed by promises to do better in the future is not adequate. What is needed is congressional action to reaffirm the principle of individual privacy, and to keep the actions of government agencies firmly in check.

BUGGED BUILDINGS

The United States is spending $1,600,000 to debug its embassies in 15 foreign capitals—the biggest insecticide project since war was declared in the potato bug and the boll weevil.

But Operation Badbug (and don't bet it couldn't be called that!) isn't aimed at insects but at hidden microphones.

For secret recording devices have been discovered cunningly concealed behind the walls of our embassies in Moscow and Warsaw. And our intelligence units dourly suspect they weren't placed there by boyish pranksters as sort of a candid camera fun game to liven up embassy receptions.

Well, you can imagine how these sneaky shenanigans shook up our boys, who are too busy being diplomats to tune in regularly to James Bond or Alfred Hitchcock.

So Uncle Sam is going to rip out the walls

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
EDUCATION OF A GENERATION

The tender-minded of yesteryear are becoming the tough-minded of today. And in this we may yet find our salvation.

There is White House adviser McGeorge Bundy, who once reprimanded the then Vice President Lyndon Johnson for being too belligerent at the time of the Bay of Pigs. Bundy, an educator who is capable of absorbing education, now realizes that you don't hit Communists with cream puffs and live to tell the tale.

There is Secretary of State Dean Rusk. He was once supposed to be a "soft," a "dove," and fore Communism spoke of him as being part of what they called "the twenty-year retreat" before Communism spoke of him as being part of "the fringe on top"—meaning a set of appeasers who had somehow taken over the government. But today Dean Rusk, as spokesman for the Johnson policy in Viet Nam, wonders at the "gullibility of educated men and the stubborn disregard of plain fact by men who are supposed to be helping our young to learn—especially to learn how to think."

There is Averell Harriman, who has been ambassador and trouble-shooter for 10 of these many years. Harriman used to draw taunts from those who considered him an "architect of defeat" because of the part he is alleged to have played in turning over a third of Laos to the Communists. But today we find Harriman saying, "If you listen to some of the bleeding hearts in this country, you begin to think that we started the trouble in the world instead of the Communists."

Finally, there is Adlai Stevenson, the permanent representative of the U. S. at the United Nations. At the time of the Bay of Pigs Mr. Stevenson was all a-tremble lest President John F. Kennedy should really commit U. S. forces to the overthrow of Fidel Castro. But Ambassador Stevenson recently made a speech at Toronto that was the best thing of its kind in many a moon. It was so packed with realistic insight, in fact, that it makes one sorry he didn't keep it on ice for delivery at the twentieth birthday party of the UN at San Francisco.

The Toronto speech got very little publicity; actually, there was more in the news stories about the anti-U. S. pickets outside the University of Toronto convocation hall than there was about Mr. Stevenson's own words. But as the picketers were parading with signs reading "negotiate with rebels in Viet Nam," Mr. Stevenson was telling people inside the hall that "we live in a world where the Marxist Ministry of Truth has perfected the exercise of converting black into white and up into down."

Said Mr. Stevenson, warming to his theme: "Nowadays totalitarianism is the new democracy. Communist intervention is liberation, and counter-intervention against it is Western imperialism. If it weren't so serious, it would be funny. But it is not funny, because it is devilish to cope with, both militarily, psychologically, and institutionally."

Mr. Stevenson's eloquent description of Communist "doublethink" would seem to prove that he has been completely liberated from the fuzziness that once characterized his approach to world affairs. No one has better stated the case for a proper appreciation of modern semantic difficulties than Mr. Stevenson at Toronto.

It must mean something when exposure to the realities of dealing with the Communists moves men like McGeorge Bundy, Dean Rusk, Averell Harriman and Adlai Stevenson to rebel against the influences that once gripped them. The professors who are still talking like the Bundys and the Stevensons of yesteryear might examine this phenomenon with some profit to themselves. It might save them from ten or twenty years of profitless wandering in a never-never land that bears no relation to reality.

And if the professors want a clincher, let them listen to Vice President Hubert Humphrey, a liberal in good standing. Humphrey recently told the National War College that Communist-provoked "wars of national liberation" constituted "a bold new form of aggression which could rank with the discovery of gunpowder."

We await Adlai Stevenson's next speech at the UN. If he can carry through a campaign to get the assembled nations to accept his own definition of "neo-aggression," the U. S. will make a beginning at using the UN for purposes that combine decent human objectives with the obvious national interest.

Persistent Pcosnasa' Drip Can Have Many Causes

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Several readers who saw my recent column on emphysema were confused by my concluding sentence: The best "cure" is not to catch it. This was an unfortunate choice of words because emphysema is not catching in the sense that you might get it by contact with a person who has it. You get it by a combination of excessive smoking and inadequate treatment of attacks of bronchitis.

Q—I have had postnasal drip for many years. The doctors pack my nose and have me use a nasal spray. This gives me some relief but does not get rid of it. What other treatment would you suggest? Has climate anything to do with this?

A—Since your trouble may be the result of one of several causes such as allergy, excessive smoking or use of alcohol, air pollution and even the over use of nasal drops or sprays, you should have a nose and throat specialist determine the cause. A high degree of air pollution is more likely to be the cause than the outside climate. Excessive dryness of your indoor climate, especially in winter, will aggravate your condition.

Q—My doctor says I have silicosis. I live near the Great Lakes. Will moving to a dry climate help me? Is there any cure?

A—Since this disease is caused by inhaling silica dust over a period of many years and not by the amount of moisture in the atmosphere, moving will not help you but changing your occupation might. This disease is found chiefly in stone cutters, cement workers and sand blasters who do not wear respirators at work. There is no cure, but avoidance of silica dust will allow nature partially to repair the damage. Continued exposure will not make you worse.

Q—Does it hurt a person's health to keep live plants in a bedroom?

A—There has long been a superstition about keeping plants in a bedroom, especially at night. Although in some hospitals they still remove the plants at night from habit, most of them have given up this foolish practice. Plants of any kind absorb carbon dioxide from the air and give off oxygen and moisture. In that way they will benefit rather than harm you.

Q—Would taking female hormone pills make my breasts sore?

A—This is a common side effect and indicates that the dose should be reduced.

of the bugged buildings and of American embassies in 13 other national capitals, to see just what gives—or takes.

And if we tear down our walls, you know they'll tear down theirs, if only to save face. This will cost everyone a lot of money and might even cause hard feelings.

Why wouldn't it be a good idea for both sides to get together and solemnly agree that from now on no one will ever bug anyone else, cross my heart and hope to die?

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Ernesto (Che) Guevara is not the only Cuban to "disappear" of late.

A contact who has just arrived from Cuba reports that Raul Castro's trusted friend, Augusto Martinez-Sanchez, is under house arrest.

Martinez-Sanchez, who was minister of labor, was one-time No. 3 man in Cuba, after Fidel and Raul Castro. He reportedly attempted suicide last December.

Top old-line Communist Joaquin Ordoqui is also under house arrest. He's reportedly the toughest of the old-line Communists. Ordoqui was a graduate of the Frunze Military Academy in Moscow; he was vice minister of the armed forces and chief of political commissars in the army under Raul Castro.

Ordoqui's wife, Edith Garcia-Buchaca, is also believed under house arrest. She was head of international cultural relations in the ministry of Education.

Ordoqui and his wife are understood to be close to Moscow. A Che Guevara man, Omar Fernandez, was removed as head of Cuban customs in April. Cuban cattle czar Enrique Oltuski was ousted early this year. The list goes on and on.

THE GOVERNMENT MEN whose job it is to read signs see no evidence that Castro's government is in danger.

But Fidel Castro has real economic troubles. He's firing men right and left as scapegoats or fumbler.

Since March, Castro has purged 40 officials from the National Bank of Cuba. He ousted the bank's president, Salvador Villaseca, a Che Guevara man, in June, gave him the fascinating post of rector of the University of Havana.

Before that, Fidel had ousted the key men in a handful of other key economic departments—the Ministry of Economy (the ex-minister now manages a condensed milk plant), the Ministry of Foreign Commerce and the Institute of Agrarian Reform (Fidel took the top job himself).

CASTRO HAS POTENTIAL political troubles, too. Recent reports from Cuba indicate that Fidel, for the first time, is being heckled with regularity when he speaks. When he extols the big sugar crop, men from the audience cry, "We want beans," or they shout, "I am fainting."

Fidel has ordered a cleanup of the University of Havana, a political hotbed which had been believed under tight Castro control for years.

Though Che Guevara "men," and even Fidel and Raul "men," have been ousted in the government firings, hardest blows fell on the old-time Communists.

There is intensifying animosity between the Moscow-line "old Communists" (there before Castro) and the "new Communists" (who came in with the Castro brothers). Mutual distrust and hatred are running high.

Fidel has been attempting to play one group against the other. He's been doing it with consummate skill. But there could be seeds here for an eventual blow-up.

Presidential System—An Overhaul Urged

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — There's a good deal wrong with the operation of the government nowadays — but President Johnson isn't alone to blame. It's primarily the fault of what might be called the Presidential system, whose defects have been a handicap also to other Presidents in the last 30 years as the problems of government have multiplied.

Many of the comments lately about dissension in governmental councils on various subjects have come from critics who have been unable to see the forest for the trees. The so-called temperamental outbursts by Mr. Johnson, for instance—which have been magnified in the press recently out of all proportion to their true importance—merely reflect the troubles every President has given him in the executive branch of the Federal government.

Naturally, Mr. Johnson becomes impatient when he reads gossip about how this or that aid is treated by him or how one adviser is brusquely handled. But these episodes really portray the many frustrating phases of a Chief Executive's effort to do too much in too many fields with too little assistance from those under him in the various departments of the government.

Sooner or later it will be recognized that the executive system of today has outlived its usefulness and needs a few of those mature minds from the business world to formulate a system of operation that will not only be efficient in administration, but effective in making policy.

For one thing, "The President's Cabinet" is a misnomer. It is, in fact, a group of managers of departments, every one of which could be supervised by career executives so as to leave the Secretary in each case free to give virtually his entire time to the task of advising the President on all manner of subjects. This would make possible daily meetings of the Cabinet, at which everything from Viet Nam to the balance-of-payments problem could be discussed before decisions were made by the Chief Executive.

No President can know all the answers to all public questions, and he is necessarily dependent on advisers of some kind. But it is this very phase of the present system which is weak. The unofficial advisers to a President today are hand-picked as a sort of personal entourage, responsible only to the man who can fire them overnight. There is no sense of responsibility to the public such as is vested in a Cabinet officer who is confirmed by the Senate.

Many of these personal advisers—as, for instance, McGeorge Bundy—are capable of holding Cabinet posts. But there can hardly be two Secretaries of State. It would be much better if Secretary Rusk had the services of as many personal advisers as he wished and could give to the President and the entire Cabinet the "consensus" which he found in the reports from abroad and from the interpretation of such reports by experienced men around him.

The concept of a Cabinet which would be relieved of detail and thereby enabled to meet daily with the Chief Executive was discussed by this correspondent one day while lunching with the late President Kennedy during his first year in office. While Mr. Kennedy seemed to agree with the theory, he questioned whether it would be practical. His doubt centered on the difficulty of finding ten persons for the Cabinet posts who would have a broad enough knowledge to advise a President on all manner of subjects or who could be persuaded to leave their positions in private life to accept such appointments.

But, actually, there are many men of stature in the country who would gladly enter the government as Cabinet officers if the Presidential Cabinet became the governing institution it should be and if it carried the prestige it deserves.

The United States government is the largest in the world. Some decentralization on a geographical basis may become necessary to take care of the Federal government's newly assumed responsibilities for handling regional as well as local problems that range from economic to educational and sociological fields. But a new operating formula for the departments in the national capital is essential, together with the establishment of a Cabinet in which each member would give his entire time to the President and occupy offices in a building along with him.

Such a group of advisers would be much more likely to help steer a resolute and steady course in foreign policy than is possible under the hit-or-miss system of today which results in so many improvised and spur-of-the-moment decisions. Certainly, it is time that the weakness in the present system of Presidential operations was remedied.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

The Rastro is an excellent place for swindling. The Spaniards call it the Flea Market and the Thieves Market. It consists of an assortment of pushcarts and dusty shops in Madrid Antigua . . . It is open only on Sundays, after Mass, and Madrid rilenos and tourists swarm down a hilly street, browsing for items ranging from botas para ninos to a fluted granite column stolen in Athens.

Hollow-eyed statues of saints are sometimes bought by a priest who, with Spanish philosophy, knows how futile it is to remind the seller that the statue was stolen from his church yesterday. Imported ladies' gloves are cheap because, although the government imposes a heavy duty, the swindlers of The Rastro find that there is no tax on gloves for one hand, so a merchant will buy a gross of right-hand gloves, and his partner in Barcelona will order a like amount of left-hand gloves. They meet and pair them. A few years ago, Cynthia Lindsay, a brilliant writer from Beverly Hills, toured the Rastro with her husband, Louis, and a woman they had met on the plane. It was, of course, Sunday at noon. The Lindsays examined the wares, from solid brass candelabra, guaranteed to have been pilfered in the dead of night from the palace of a Don, to copper ash trays, guaranteed to have been hammered from musket balls in the War of 1805.

"I," said the lady from the plane, "have a trick. When I like something, I make a disgusted face and say 'Ugh.' This brings the price down." Cynthia Lindsay was studying a six-foot painting of a bearded man on a white horse. He was flogging a group of Moors with a blood-stained whip.

"This is lovely," said Mrs. Lindsay. The Spanish merchant smiled. The lady from the plane looked disgusted and grunted "Ugh." Louis Lindsay said: "For God's sake, what's that?" The merchant studied the layer of dust and said: "San Sebastian" and crossed himself. The lady from the plane said: "It is probably St. Sebastian driving the Moors from Spain. Revolting." She forgot to say "Ugh." Lindsay said it looked like a big man on a small horse to him, and the man was probably named Sam.

The haggling began. This is a delectable dialogue replete with breast-pounding, anguished cries from both sides, and a sum of money which always boards an escalator going down. Cynthia Lindsay, panting and fatigued, finally got Sam for $40. The thing she admired was the frame.

Buying from swindlers is one thing. Getting the item aboard a plane is another. Lou Lindsay divorced himself from Sam. "It's yours," he said. "I'm not even going to sit with you." The lady from the plane was sure that Cynthia had been robbed. "I don't think you understood me," she said, as they left with the big canvass. "When I said 'Ugh,' I meant 'Ugh!'"

At the hotel, Cynthia got the frame apart, and tied the ornate sticks together. Then she rolled the canvas like a shade. It looked like a six-foot barber pole. Before boarding the plane, Lou smiled at a story in an English-language paper.

"Someone," he said solemnly, "has stolen a priceless painting of a man on a white horse. It's Wellington in battle."

"This is St. Sebastian in battle," said Mrs. Lindsay. Lou shook his head. "I checked on it. It's really St. Ignatius Loyola with a whip, but the Spanish police will arrest you anyway."

He was almost right. Every time Cynthia appeared at a customs gate with the rolled up painting, the guards steamed with excitement, unrolled it, said "Ah ha!" and ran off to find more policemen.

By the time the painting reached Beverly Hills, the Lindsays were too exhausted to hang anything except themselves. Sam was placed in his frame and stood on the garage floor between the garden shears and the mower. In time, he was hung on a wall, and he looked bigger than the room, forever flogging the poor Moors with the bloody whip. Mr. Lindsay used to look sadly at it and say: "Sam, go away. And take your whip too!"

Cynthia Lindsay was busy writing books and magazine articles and scripts, and had little time to wince at the cruel anger of St. Ignatius. To restore peace in the family, she packed it on top of her car and gave it to a local art museum. She was forced to inflict it on someone. The art experts too! one look and said "Ugh!" Mrs. Lindsay was pleased to find that the reaction to the painting was uniform. The museum accepted the gift, only to soothe her feelings. Besides, they liked the frame.

Recently an art connoisseur examined the canvas and found that it is an original seventeenth century masterpiece. Sam is worth a fortune.

Boscoe Is Named Director Of Sept. 18 Beauty Pageant

A recent meeting of the Miss Saugerties Pageant committee resulted in the election of Joseph Boscoe as director of the 1965 annual competition which will be held Sept. 18 in the Saugerties High School auditorium.

In charge of production this year will be Albert Conte. Other committee heads include Nathan Aaron, judges; Alfred McMullen, tickets; Vincent Amrod, budget; Herbert Lachmann, contestant awards.

Others include Mrs. Vivian Schultz, entrees; Mrs. Laura Buono, hostess-chaperones; Miss Valerie Herb, publicity and Robert Herb, program chairman. Miss Barbara Bishop is committee secretary.

The Pageant is sponsored annually by the Saugerties Chamber of Commerce. Entry blanks for girls between the ages of 17 and 27 may be procured at any Chamber member store by Aug. 30.

YAF Opens Local Chapter; Heads, Objects Noted

The youth group which won first place in the Float Award in the Independence Day Parade here on Monday, is a newly formed local chapter of the national organization, Young Americans for Freedom.

The basic aims of the Saugerties Chapter promoting Americanism, preserving constitutional government, and helping to stem the tide of communism, through knowledge, truth and action.

Local officers are Joseph Amrod, chairman; Ross Neher, vice-chairman; Glen Davis, treasurer; Christine Breitenbach, secretary, and Maria Valdez, membership chairman. Adult advisors are Charles J. Scala Jr., and Mrs. William J. Everts.

"We welcome all area youth, aged 14 through 20, who believe in and will work toward achievement of these aims, to join with us in our endeavor," stated Joseph Amrod, chairman.

List Recipient Of Jaycee Award; Plan July Meeting

Jaycees scholarship committee reported at its June 29 meeting that the recipient of the Jaycees' scholarship to the Ulster County Community College is Roselle Haviland, 1965 graduate of Saugerties High School.

Miss Haviland will receive tuition for two semesters at the college.

Mrs. George Leombruno, newly elected president presided at the Jaycees' meeting at the Saugerties Savings Bank.

It was decided that the Jaycees will purchase equipment for the Jaycee Recreation Park in Barclay Heights upon its completion.

The meeting in July will be an informal dessert party.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Myer, Mrs. Matthew Duer and Mrs. Robert Galpin.

Two Mayors Show Up

PASCAGOULA, Miss. (AP) — Two mayors showed up at city hall Tuesday.

Incumbent Mayor Ben L. Briggs arrived first. Then came J. Guy Krebs, who was elected in a special election June 8. The State Supreme Court voided the election on technical grounds.

Briggs and Krebs conferred in private and apparently discussed who would run the city pending a court decision — but no announcement was made.

Chief Was Waiting

KINGMAN, Ariz. (AP) — The roar of cars drag racing by his window awakened Police Chief Carl Fisher two straight nights.

On the third occasion when the teen-agers drove by at 2 a.m., Fisher was waiting in his squad car. He collared the youths and ticketed them for speeding and reckless driving. "Find out who lives here," he advised them, "before you do this again."

Untouched Hue Is Calm, Beautiful Spot in S. Viet

By RONALD I. DEUTSCH
HUE, South Viet Nam (AP) — Barely touched by the war, ancient Hue remains one of the calmest and most beautiful spots in South Viet Nam although only 55 miles from the North Vietnamese border.

As the former imperial capital of Viet Nam, Hue still is the nation's intellectual and cultural center. While fighting goes on in the nearby jungles, it retains its placid charm.

A city with palaces, royal tombs and lush lotus ponds, Hue lies along the banks of the gently flowing River of Perfumes. It is clean and well-kept. Many of the 2,000 U.S. servicemen in Hue believe it is the most pleasant city in South Viet Nam.

Hue has so far resisted the commercialization and quickening pace of life in Saigon and Da Nang. As more Americans pour into the area — some 2,000 U.S. Marines have established a beachhead only 12 miles south of Hue at Phu Bai — this may change.

But the face of an American still is pretty much of an oddity to many of Hue's 120,000 inhabitants.

A highlight of Hue's beauty is the walled imperial city. Other wars and time, however, have ravaged many of the ornate monuments first erected in the early 19th century under the reign of Emperor Gia Long.

Although its days as an imperial court ended when Emperor Bao-Dai was deposed by comgress in 1955, Hue remained in the spotlight when Ngo Dinh Diem became president of the newly created Republic of Viet Nam that year.

It is the home of the state-operated University of Hue and produces some of the nation's most militant students and professors. Student antigovernment demonstrations often have been held in Hue.

As a religious center of power, Hue also is the home of the venerable Trich Tri Quang, the leading Buddhist spokesman. The city has an estimated 35,000 Catholics, setting the stage for religious rivalry.

While outwardly calm itself, Hue is part of a province that some military spokesmen say could become embroiled overnight in the war. Government troops have made contact with the Viet Cong only a few miles outside Hue on several large-scale operations in Thua Thien province.

The Viet Cong, however, generally has refrained from making Hue a target of terrorism. Americans here recall only one recent terrorist incident, shooting of a bus station.

Some sources say the Communists stay away from Hue because its rich tradition represents too much to too many Vietnamese.

Saigon is one of the most crowded cities on earth. Two million persons squeeze themselves into 20 square miles, an area less than one-third the size of the District of Columbia.

Religion Writer Examines Issues in Luci's Rebaptism

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
 AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Roman Catholic and Episcopal church representatives late last month had an unprecedented, mutual discussion of baptism. They found themselves in agreement.

But today, a furor swirled on that same subject in connection with the rebaptism of Luci Johnson, formerly an Episcopalian, when she became a Roman Catholic last week.

The issue, in the view of church scholars, has deep ramifications for the ecumenical movement toward closer Christian unity.

Main Basis for Work

Ever since Roman Catholicism stepped strongly into that movement, under impetus of the late Pope John XXIII, it has pointed to baptism of all Christians as a main basis for the work.

The theme has been emphasized by Augustin Cardinal Bea, head of the Vatican Secretariat for Christian Unity, in writings and lectures.

He and other Catholic leaders have stressed that baptism of Christians — whatever their denomination — creates a fundamental, underlying tie among Protestant, Orthodox and Catholic.

The Vatican Council's historic decree on ecumenism, promulgated last December, makes the same point.

But the principle took an inferential and highly publicized shelving, in practice, at the rebaptism of the President's daughter.

Done on Request

It develops, however, that the rite was carried out at her request, not at insistence of the church.

In Roman Catholic teaching, any baptism is valid so long as it is performed with the right intent of joining a person to Christ and with use of water and the scriptural words, "In the name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost."

So long as these conditions are met, the baptism is considered valid in whatever denomination it is performed or whether by a layman or clergyman, and whether by pouring, sprinkling or immersion.

Rebaptism or "conditional baptism", however, implies doubt about the validity of the prior baptism.

In general practice Roman Catholic parishes and some Protestant churches, including many Baptists, have commonly rebaptized new members.

For Roman Catholics, this has been mainly a case of being sure about the matter.

Chief Topic

This was a chief topic of discussion late last month at the first official theological talks between representatives of the Episcopal Church and the Catholic Bishops' Commission on Ecumenical Relations.

The conference, including eight Episcopal scholars led by Bishop Donald H. V. Hallock of Milwaukee and seven Catholics headed by Bishop Charles H. Helmsing of Kansas City-St. Joseph, Mo., took place in Washington, D.C.

The participants agreed that the widespread practice of rebaptism or "conditional baptism" of Episcopalians received into the Roman Catholic Church does not conform with traditional Christian doctrine.

The Episcopalians agreed that confirmed Catholics received into the Episcopal Church should under no circumstances be reconfirmed or "conditionally confirmed" by Episcopal bishops.

In both cases, they agreed, the practices reflect on the authenticity of sacraments previously administered in the other church.

In a joint statement, the participants said they rejoiced in the new possibilities for jointly held services and common prayer and "we encourage our people to take advantage of them."

The Luci Johnson situation brought out a less harmonious note. But the incident doesn't change the underlying accord on the matter.

Luray Attraction

One of the special attractions of the Luray Caverns in Virginia is the great Stalacpipe Organ, world's only organ playing musical selections of concert quality on stone formations.

Four Roses adds a Fifth Rose.

Where? Not where you can see it...where you can taste it. We've found a way to make whiskey actually taste good. Not just smoother or lighter. Not just blander or milder. But good. Many a distiller has tried. Now we've succeeded. The great new taste of Four Roses—that's the Fifth Rose. At long last, a taste you don't just say you like—but really like. This could change a lot of people's ideas about why they drink whiskey. And what whiskey they should drink. Suggestion: see for yourself how surprisingly good a whiskey can taste. And how surprisingly reasonable a good-tasting whiskey can be. Four Roses doesn't cost any more any more. So now there's no reason in the world why you shouldn't buy Four Roses. 315 619 499

Rocket Troops Have It Tougher With Nikita Out

By GEORGE SYVERTSEN

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet rocket troops, once the apple of Nikita Khrushchev's eye, appear to have come on hard times since his downfall.

Soviet military publications for weeks have been criticizing them. Tuesday amendments to the criminal code were published to tighten and enforce strict discipline in the rocket forces.

It is believed that the sudden loss of Khrushchev's patronage and support for the rocket forces may have touched off a squabble among top military men. Soviet rocketeers, mostly highly trained technicians, are reported to have irritated members of traditional troop units by flaunting their privileged status.

Shortly after Khrushchev's ouster last fall, the Defense Ministry newspaper Red Star printed articles on the importance of teaching rocket troops to march in drill formation. It continued with barbed comments on their training and combat readiness.

The tactical rocket troops and artillery got a new commander — Marshal Konstantin P. Kazakov. Until May 1963, they had been headed by Marshal Sergei Varentsov, a Khrushchev appointee who was fired for doing favors for Oleg Penkovsky. Penkovsky was executed for spying for Britain and the United States.

The strategic long-range rocket units of Marshal Nikolai I. Krylov also received severe criticism. Krylov is another Khrushchev appointee.

The criminal code amendments appear to be the answer to the Defense Ministry's newspaper's demand for tougher discipline and severe punishment for mistakes.

The Soviet Communist party leadership earlier this year made clear that it would not intrude on the professional soldiers' conduct of purely military affairs.

Books on Wheels Is New Feature Of Local Library

The Board of Trustees of the Kingston City Library has borrowed $2400 to acquire a bookmobile to improve library service to the Kingston area. The bookmobile is a mobile branch library carrying 1,600 children's and adult books.

The branch will be staffed by students from the Ulster County Community College work-study program, with funds provided by the Federal Government. Service will start Wednesday, July 7.

The bookmobile is completely equipped with charging desks, shelving and upholstered seating. It has fluorescent lighting, its own power generator, skylights and bulletin boards. A complete collection of new children's and adult fiction and non-fiction books are being used to stock it.

The Bookmobile Committee of the Library Board of Trustees, consisting of Mrs. Harold Davis, Mrs. Harry Gold and Dan H. Allen, have designated the following locations as bookmobile stops for this summer:

Block Park, corner of Abel and German Streets, every Monday, 10 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. Starting date for the service is July 12.

Chambers Street, between Pierpont and Meadow streets, every Monday, 1:30 p. m. to 4 p. m. Starting date is July 12.

School No. 4, corner of Delaware and Lindsay Streets, every Tuesday, 10 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. Starting date is July 13.

Hutton Park, on Grant Street between Lincoln and Garrison Streets, every Tuesday, 1:30 p. m. to 4 p. m. Starting date is July 13.

The corner of Roosevelt Avenue and Charlotte Street, every Wednesday, 10 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. This is the first stop for the bookmobile program. Service starts July 7.

Brigham School, on O'Neil Street, between Bruyn Avenue and Smith Avenue, every Wednesday, 1:30 p. m. to 4 p. m. Service starts July 7.

Washington Avenue School, corner of Wall and Henry Sts., every Thursday, 10 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. Service starts July 8.

Academy Green, every Thursday, 1:30 p. m. to 4 p. m. Service starts July 8.

Forsyth Park every Friday, 10 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. Service here starts July 9.

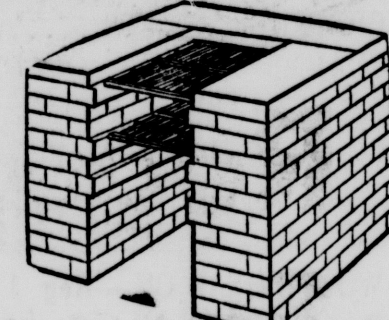

The stops will be under constant review by the Board's committee to see that they are serving the greatest number of people possible.

Passes Test With Flying Colors as 'Perfect Husband'

CHICAGO (AP) — A carpenter who passed a long and exacting "perfect husband" test with flying colors has been reconciled with his wife, who drafted the test.

For nearly 11 months, Curt Moberg, 33, has been living with a 31-point ultimatum issued by his wife, Cecilia, 29, requiring, among other things, that he "cooperate in everything and anything."

He also agreed to give up all hunting and fishing trips, pay all bills on time, let his wife handle all financial matters, earn $125 or more a week for 52 weeks a year, and maintain an open-door policy for all relatives and friends.

Moberg won a year-long trial reconciliation Aug. 12 when he agreed in Circuit Court to give the test a try.

The agreement stipulated that if he broke even one of the 31 points "a divorce hearing will be had and all merchandise and all property will be given to Cecilia and the children (Craig, 3, and Carl, 2) without a fight."

Lawyers for the couple appeared before Judge Hyman Feldman Tuesday and announced there has been a reconciliation and divorce proceedings were being dropped. Judge Feldman dismissed the suit.

The Mobergs were not present. The attorneys said they did not know where they are living or where they could be reached.

"But they're very happy and back together again," said S. Edward Bloom, attorney for Mrs. Moberg.

"Did Moberg live up to all 31 points?" a newsman asked Moberg's attorney, Norman Becker.

"I don't know, but I'm of the opinion he did," Becker said.

17 Killed by Tornado In Northern Italy

ROME (AP)—A tornado that ripped across northern Italy from Genoa to Venice Sunday killed at least 17 persons and left a trail of damage estimated at $160 million, authorities said today.

Six other persons died Monday in torrential rains in the north and hot winds in Sicily, bringing the 10-day toll from the weather in Italy to at least 43.

Success, Say Police

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The 12th Newport Jazz Festival completed its four days with none of the violence that marked it in the past.

About 10 persons were arrested after the windup performance Sunday night, bringing the total of arrests to around 80—all for minor offenses.

Police Chief Joseph A. Radice said "the festival was a great success, from the police standpoint."

Mitchell Now Up For Manager Job In Vermont Town

Applicants for the post of town manager in the resort community of Manchester, Vt., include Joseph McDowell Mitchell, who figured in a bitter national debate about welfare when he was city manager in Newburgh.

Before interviewing Mitchell, who is 43, Manchester's selectmen were unaware of his more recent activities, one of the officials reportedly said with some embarrassment.

Mitchell left Newburgh in 1963 after acquittal on bribery charges, and became field director for white citizens councils in Maryland and Virginia.

One county council was infiltrated by CORE and voted to adopt as its anthem "We Shall Overcome."

Presently, the Manchester selectmen said, Mitchell is unemployed.

111 Ships Tied Up as Pickets Walk

NEW YORK (AP)—Thousands of summer vacationers, bound for Europe or just arrived in America, swarmed over Manhattan piers today as foreign liners came and went. But most U.S. vessels lay dead in the water, strikebound.

Vessels of France, Britain, Holland, Germany docked or embarked.

Wharves serving various U.S. ships, including the superliner United States, were mostly empty, except for a few pickets, and with sailing schedules canceled or in doubt.

A strike of ship's officers and engineers, entering its fourth week, has tied 111 U.S. ships on the East and Gulf coasts. One U.S. liner unaffected, the Constitution, sailed for Europe.

The deadlock involved arbitration machinery, pensions and the manning of American-flag ships.

The U.S. Maritime Administration reported 111 ships tied up.

Cargo movements have been little affected. Foreign and domestic traders have been able to shift to foreign-flag vessels.

Reapportionment Plan For New York Is Again in Court

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Republican-enacted state reapportionment plan, which has bounced in and out of courts since it was passed last December, is back in court again.

The State Supreme Court's Appellate Division, Third Department, was to hear arguments today on a preliminary injunction granted Tuesday that would block a special legislative election this fall. The election was called for under the controversial reapportionment plan.

The Court of Appeals has held that Plan A was unconstitutional. A three-man federal district court panel in New York City, however, ordered the election on the ground that the plan was the only valid one complying with the one-man, one-vote edict of the U.S. Supreme Court.

Tuesday, Supreme Court Justice Russell G. Hunt granted a temporary injunction staying preparation for the election. It was sought by State Sen. Frank J. Glinski, D-Buffalo, and William F. Kennan, a West Seneca voter.

Hunt said that he granted the temporary injunction so it can be determined whether it is possible to stop the election under Plan A, or whether the supremacy clause of the U.S. Constitution prevents state courts from enjoining the election.

Election procedures began last week with the circulation of despatching petitions for candidates. The final date for this procedure is Aug. 10.

U.S. Plans on . . .

southeast. A spokesman said they would replace 500 Marines who landed there last Thursday on a crash basis, and the smaller force would return to the 7th Fleet.

Qui Nhon is a supply port of the campaign against guerrillas in the central highlands.

The U.S. spokesman said the new arrivals would be deployed along the strategic coastal strip to beef up forces already there. Marine units now are stationed at Da Nang, takeoff point for many of the air strikes against Communist North Viet Nam; in the Hue-Phu Bai area, at Chu Lai, and at Qui Nhon.

Guerrillas Slip Through Viet Cong guerrillas slipped through the heavy Marine guard surrounding Da Nang last week, killed one American and destroyed three U.S. Air Force planes.

American and Vietnamese authorities have believed for some months that the Viet Cong was readying a major offensive in central Viet Nam, aimed possibly at destroying Da Nang air base. Provincial capitals and coastal towns like Quang Ngai and Qui Nhon are also considered likely targets.

The Viet Cong overran the jungle outpost of Ba Gia, 10 miles from Quang Ngai, Monday and made off with two 105mm howitzers and a large stock of ammunition. They were the largest weapons captured by the Communists and could be used against such key positions as Da Nang.

Rights Leaders Back Accused Minister

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Civil rights leaders have rallied to the support of one of their number, the Rev. Frederick D. Reese of Selma, who is charged with embezzling $1,850 from the organization which he heads.

Reese, a lieutenant of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in the Alabama civil rights campaign, was indicted Tuesday on three charges of embezzling from the Dallas County Voters League, a key organization in the lengthy civil rights drive in Selma and Dallas County earlier this year.

The Rev. Ralph Abernathy, vice president of King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference, flew into Selma Tuesday night with other leaders assigned by King to investigate the charges made against the Negro minister.

Before flying back to Atlanta, Abernathy announced the full support of the organization for Reese.

Selma Mayor Joe Smitherman and City Safety Director Wilson Baker stressed at a news conference after Reese's indictment that the investigation was begun only after Negro civil rights workers complained.

Saved by Drought

NEWBURY, Mass. (AP) — A car with Thomas Brown, 17, Byfield, and Henry Combellic, 19, Weston, veered off Orchard Street along the Parker River Sunday, glanced off a garage, tree and boulder and went into the river.

But they didn't get hurt — or even wet. The river was dry because of Massachusetts' long drought.

Gordon Elected School President For 12th Term

Philip Gordon of Phenicia was reelected to his twelfth consecutive term as president of the Onteora Central Schools District Board of Education at Tuesday night's annual reorganization meeting of the board.

A Phenicia pharmacist, Gordon was first elected president in 1954 and has served continuously since then.

Trustee Lloyd K. Collins was reelected vice president. Gordon's designation was unanimous. Six members of the board participated in the vote: Gordon, Collins, Sherman Mastern, Richard O. Langham, John W. Elvis and Herbert Shultis.

The board also made several annual appointments at last night's meeting.

Bomb Explosion Rocks Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Explosion of a bomb rocked office buildings at the western edge of Chicago's downtown area early today causing damage estimated in excess of $200,000 and leaving police puzzled in their hunt for a motive.

The explosion that occurred at 3:45 a.m. No one was injured.

The blast, caused by a black powder bomb planted in a refuse container in front of the 10-story Masonite Building at 29 N. Wacker Drive, broke hundreds of windows in the structure and in nearby buildings.

Debris fragments as high as the 20th floor of the Komer Insurance Building, which houses the Civic Opera House and the Civic Theater, across Wacker Drive.

Police said the refuse container was in front of the sales showrooms of Friden Inc., an office machine manufacturing company which occupies almost the entire first floor of the Masonite Building.

Damage to adding machines and computers on display there was estimated at $200,000.

John J. Angus, manager of the Friden office, said he was mystified by the blast.

John Marshall Gerald Mullin said dozens of persons might have been killed or injured if the blast had occurred in the daytime when people were on the streets.

Senate

in old age a reality for the great majority of Americans.

Long said he expected 15 or 20 amendments would be offered to the bill before final action. Passage would send it to conference with the House, which has passed its own version of the measure.

But Long added there was every reason to believe that final action could come by Friday.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., senior Republican on the Finance Committee which handled the bill, said this estimate might be optimistic but Republicans would not delay consideration.

"I expect to vote against it on the floor as I did in committee," he said. "But I am willing to go right ahead and vote."

Amendment Planned

A major amendment is expected to come from Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., who plans to try to revise the health plan so as to introduce an income factor in the contribution which the individual would make.

The administration strongly opposes this as a violation of the principles of its proposal. It succeeded in getting the Finance Committee to reverse itself and reject such an amendment after first accepting it.

Long was the author of the amendment in the committee. He said he would support Curtis' move on the floor but added he expected it to be beaten.

Javits' Comment

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., served notice he would offer amendments to add prescription drugs to the voluntary supplemental health plan in the bill and to go back to the House provision for handling tip income of tipped employees.

His drug proposal would boost the monthly premium payment, for both the individual and the federal government, to $3.75 a month instead of the $3 in the House bill to pay for the added benefits.

Under the House version of the legislation, tip income is to be counted for Social Security purposes, with both worker and employer taxed on it.

The Senate committee changed this to make it self-employment income, with only the worker paying a tax.

Javits said New York tipped workers had advised him they strongly preferred the House language.

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., announced he would propose an amendment to extend the hospitalization in the basic health plan in the bill so it would cover all prolonged illnesses.

As revised in the Finance Committee to provide a possible 120 days of hospitalization, the plan would take care of 99 per cent of all illnesses.

"What concerns me," said Hartke, "is the 1 per cent not covered by the bill who really need the coverage more than anyone else."

Says New School To Open in Fall At Yorktown Site

Plans are progressing on schedule for the new Eleanor Roosevelt Campus under construction at Yorktown Heights as the future home of the Wilton School for Boys, Inc., which has been located at Esopus more than 25 years.

No definite date for moving from the Esopus property to the new site has been set, but Mrs. Marc Legis, of the New York office of the school, told The Freeman today that the $4 million project undoubtedly will be ready for occupancy sometime next fall.

Of the total goal of $4 million, $3.4 million has been received in cash and pledges. Financial support has been given by labor unions, foundations, corporations, performing artists, industry and private individuals and groups, it was reported.

Eighty per cent of the first phase of the project has been completed and about 40 per cent of phase 2 is complete.

The building program includes six children's residences, a dining activities building, an academic school, a clinical building, child care and administration building, a medical-dental building, and a therapy and research building.

Phase 3 of the building project will take in alterations to the existing buildings and staff quarters, and Phase 4 will provide for final site work, paving, landscaping, draining and other work.

Mrs. Legis said there are presently 100 children at the school.

Court Rules . . .

be made restraining the defendants from further use of the reference to the Ulster County Republican Committee or Ulster County Republican Committee on the Judiciary.

The order does not prevent further broadcasts of the program from WGHQ, scheduled to be broadcast by "Bill" Lang at 6:30 p. m. through July 10.

Maurice Goldberg of Woodstock, one of the candidates seeking the Republican nomination for surrogate, is attorney for petitioners.

In his application to the court for a show cause order and stay, petitioner Wilson set forth that the use of the words "Ulster County Republican Committee on the Judiciary" violates Section 20 of the Election Law, which defines the use of party emblem and names.

A spokesman for Wilson today denied that, as chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee, he has endorsed any one candidate for the surrogate post and that he has stated all announced candidates are "qualified," and that he is "backing" one candidate, and that the choice is open to the convention delegates who will recommend a candidate at the Republican convention to be held July 17.

While no name was mentioned in the radio broadcast Tuesday evening, opposition to one of the candidates referred to as the "county chairman" fair haired boy and a cat-bagging parant was directed toward Maurice Goldberg, Woodstock attorney, who has announced that he is a candidate for the office of surrogate.

The broadcast by Lang referred to the candidate as a "comparatively new-comer to Ulster County" who had established an office as a lawyer in this county in October 1958.

It charged that he had been "lavishly showered with fat Republican patronage" since 1958 and that "on recommendation to a plush job as Assistant Attorney-General and held that political position until September 1963.

Later the broadcast charged "the leader found another plusher and more lucrative one for him with the State Department of Mental Hygiene."

In an interview this morning Attorney Maurice Goldberg stated that no attempt was being made to prevent the broadcast over station WGHQ, but that objection had been made to the use of the wording "Ulster County Republican Committee on the Judiciary" which led many persons to believe that the Ulster County Republican Committee members were backing the campaign.

Misspelled, Too

PRESTONBURG, Ky. (AP) — "I've been misquoted, misled and misused. I might as well be misspelled, too," former Gov. Combs says.

Combs, probably Prestonburg's most famous son, was honored with a street in front of Prestonburg Community College being named after him.

Smashes Red Plot

ASUNCION, Paraguay (AP)—President Alfredo Stroessner's military regime announced Tuesday night it has smashed a communist plot to stage a revolt in Paraguay and rounded up many Red agents. Police chief Ramon Vera told a news conference the arrests had foiled plans to "make Paraguay a second Cuba."

Memorial

In loving memory of our dear brother and uncle, Jasper Van Steenburgh, who passed away 5 years ago today, July 7. No one knows the silent heart-aches. Only those who have loved can tell.

The grief we bear in silence For the one we loved so well. Just when his days seemed brightest, Just when his hope seemed best, God called him from us to his eternal rest.

Sadly missed, but God knew best. Tears cannot heal the heart-aches. Or the sadness we feel. Till we meet in the sweet by and by.

Winners to Get $8.5 Million Less At Race Tracks

By ROBERT T. GRAY
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Holders of winning tickets at New York State race tracks will find their take-home profits reduced by $8.5 million a year under a new state law.

The bill, among more than a dozen signed by Gov. Rockefeller Tuesday, increases from 5 to 10 cents the point at which bets are rounded off before the payoff is made.

In action on other bills, the governor signed measures providing for additional sales-tax exemptions agreed upon and announced when the controversial new levy was before the Legislature last spring.

The new exemptions are motion picture theater tickets, candy costing less than 10 cents and sold from vending machines, and building cleaning and maintenance services.

The measure providing for an increased state share of the "breaks" at race tracks also. Permits harness racing in the state practically year-round—from Jan. 3 to Dec. 15 of each year. The present season is from the third Thursday in February to the Saturday of the first full week in December.

—Establishes the New York State Horse Breeding Development Fund. It will be financed with 25 per cent of the breaks from harness tracks, which would be $2 million a year based on 1964 figures. Up to $1.5 million of that amount may be used for purses in harness-race races limited to horses bred in the state.

Under the 5-cent break level, tracks rounded off bets to the nearest nickel on each dollar—retaining up to 4 cents. Now, the bets will be rounded off at 10 cents on the dollar, with the track keeping up to 9 cents on each dollar bet.

Card of Thanks

The family of the late Mr. Frank E. Long wish to extend their heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the many acts of kindness, messages of sympathy, Mass cards and beautiful floral offerings. Also our sincere thanks to Father Russell, Rt. Rev. Msgr. McIntyre, Dr. J. Jacobson, Kingston Hospital staff of nursing and all our relatives, friends and neighbors and all others who assisted in our recent bereavement.

Signed,
THE LONG FAMILY

Murphy Will Run In Mayor Race, Sources Claim

Consistent reports from political sources this week indicate that Andrew J. Murphy 3rd, head of the city's recreation department, will accept the Republican nomination to run for mayor if it is offered to him at the GOP convention July 19.

Murphy's name was mentioned early in the year as possible candidate along with that of Alderman-at-Large Joseph F. Carroll Jr. No one has taken a definite stand, to date, however.

DIED
EPSTEIN—Issadore, of 85 Hasbrouck Avenue, July 6, 1965, son of the late Meyer and Lena Rosen Epstein; dear brother of Joseph Louis, Mrs. Albert (Ida) Davis and Jack Epstein of Kingston and Reuben Epstein of Merrick, L. I. Funeral services will be held from the Halloran Funeral Home, 261 Broadway, Thursday, July 8 at 1 p. m., with Dr. H. Z. Rappaport officiating. Burial will be in Agudas Achim Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home today from 7 to 9 p. m.

DIED
CRISP—At rest July 3, 1965, William D. Crispell, of 896 East 54th Street, Brooklyn, and Pacama, N. Y., son of Oakley and Blanche Davis Crispell, grandson of Joseph and Geneva Cole Davis, and Mrs. Rosella Crispell. Brother of Mrs. Carl (Douglas) Higbert, Cpt. Burnett Crispell, SVA, Joseph, Allan and Carleton Crispell.

Funeral services will be held at the Fairchild Sons Funeral Home, Atlantic Avenue, Brooklyn, on Wednesday at 8 p. m. A Mass of requiem will be offered at 10:30 a. m., for the repose of his soul. Interment Hurley Cemetery. Friends will be received tonight from 7 to 9.

HOFFSTATTER — Lloyd Sloan on Monday, July 5, 1965 of Stony Hollow, N. Y. beloved husband of Rosamond Hoffstatler (nee Herbert); father of Lloyd H., Richard C., William E. and Charles Hoffstatler; brother of Edward and Robert Hoffstatler; 20 grandchildren also survive.

Funeral will be held from the Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home, 27 Smith Avenue, on Thursday, July 8th at 9:30 a. m., thence to St. Joseph's Church, where a Mass of requiem will be offered at 10:30 a. m., for the repose of his soul. Interment Hurley Cemetery. Friends will be received tonight from 7 to 9.

LOEFFLER — In this city Monday July 5, 1965, Lillian Avery Loeffler, of 31 Lindsley Ave., beloved wife of Robert A. Loeffler, devoted mother of Robert A. Jr., Daniel D., David M., and Judith Ann, sister of Harold, Walter and William Avery. Mrs. Frank Nagele, Mrs. Francis Loeffler, Mrs. Anthony Turck, and Mrs. Robert Conlin all of this city.

Funeral will be held Friday at 10:30 a.m. from the James M. Murphy Funeral Home, 176 Broadway, thence to St. Mary's Church where at 11 a. m. a high requiem mass will be offered for the repose of her soul. Interment in St. Mary's Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home, Wednesday and Thursday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

Attention Officers and Members of St. Mary's Holy Name Society

All officers and members of St. Mary's Holy Name Society are requested to meet at the James M. Murphy Funeral Home, 176 Broadway, Thursday evening, July 8

Injured When Car Goes Into Ditch

Thomas Michael Ricketson, 19, of 22 Taylor Street, was taken to Benedictine Hospital by Doctors ambulance Tuesday evening after an automobile accident on Hurley Mountain Road. He suffered back injuries when his car went off the road into a ditch. The accident was investigated by Deputy Sheriff Guy A. Rider.

According to the deputy, Ricketson was driving north on Hurley Mountain Road about a mile north of Route 28 at 10:15 p. m. when the shift lever jumped out of control and the car went into a deep ditch, spun half way around with the front end facing the road.

Picasso Loses Out

PARIS (AP)—A Paris court has decided against a request by Pablo Picasso to seize the book "Vivre Avec Picasso" (To Live with Picasso) written by his former mistress, Françoise Gilot.

Picasso complained the book made him out to be cruel and indicated he liked no one but himself.

Allergic Reaction

Democrat Wants Lindsay to Debate In Garment Area

NEW YORK (AP)—City Comptroller Abraham D. Beame, one of five Democratic aspirants for the mayoral nomination, has challenged Rep. John V. Lindsay, R-N.Y., to debate him in the garment district on the question of who is more liberal.

Beame's challenge to Lindsay, the GOP candidate for mayor, was made in a telegram.

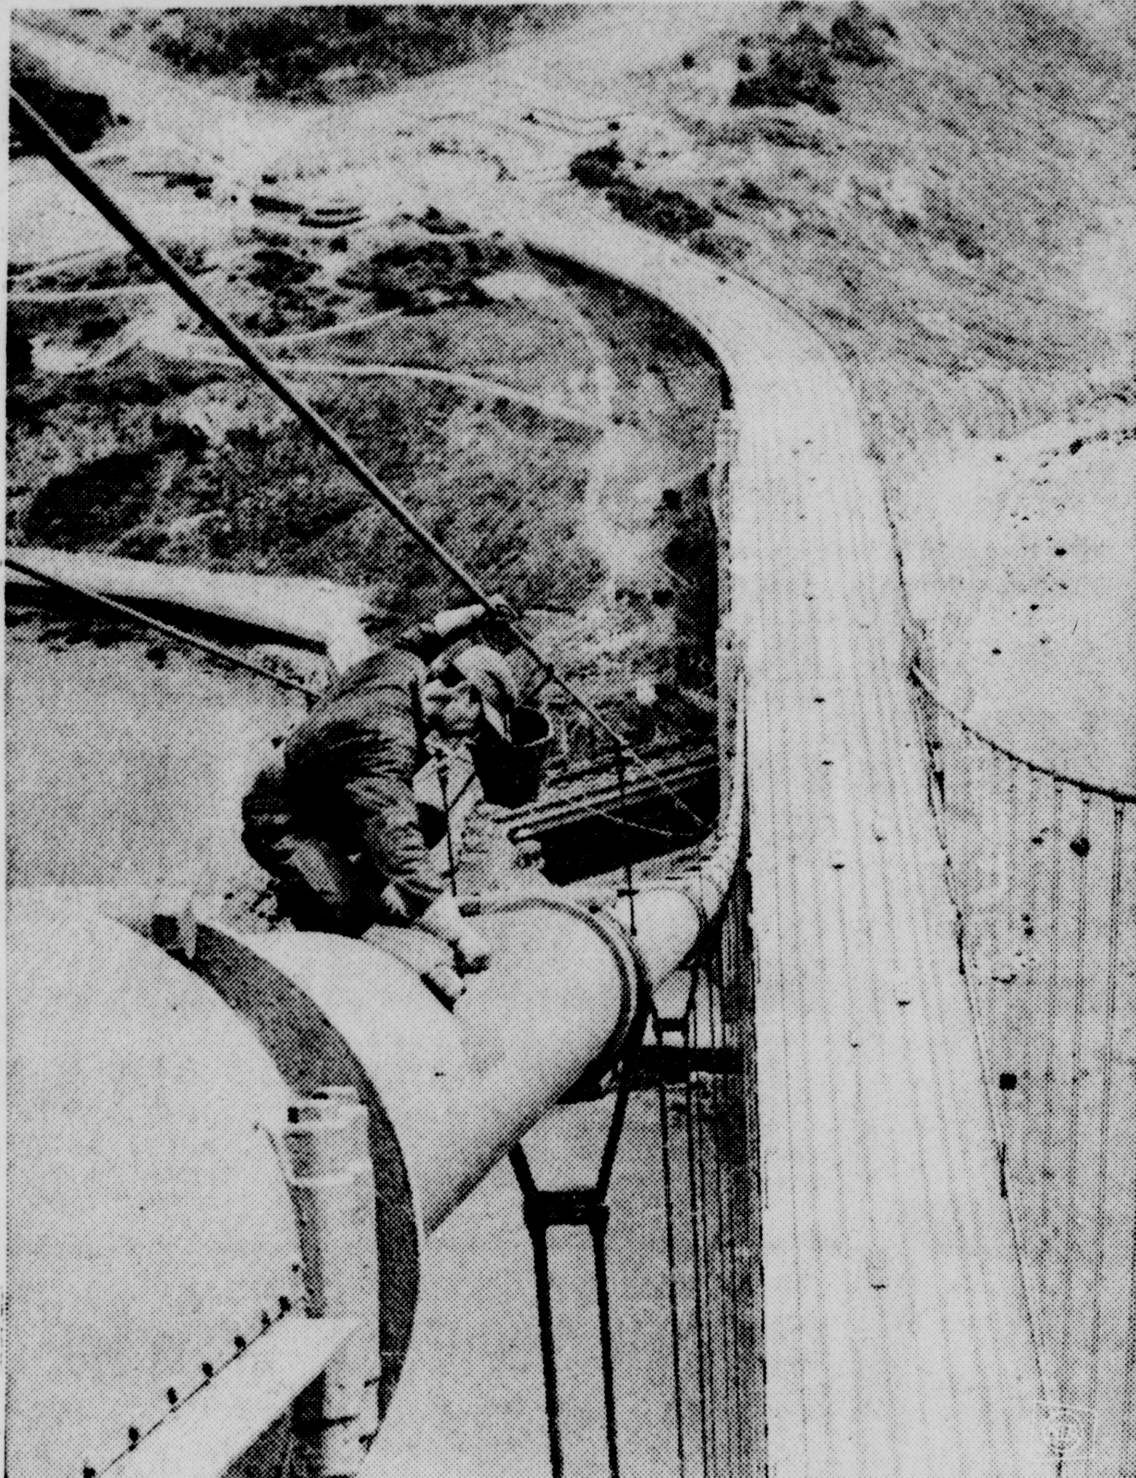

A spokesman for Lindsay replied: "If Mr. Beame becomes the Democratic candidate for mayor, Mr. Lindsay, of course, would be delighted to debate him under the proper circumstances."

Meanwhile, Lindsay's aides reported that his campaign funds were far from coming up to expectations. Published reports put his campaign fund to date at $210,000, largely from small contributors.

Before announcing his candidacy on May 13, Lindsay said a minimum of $1.5 million would be needed to finance an adequate citywide campaign.

Before flying to Washington Tuesday, Lindsay denied a report in Newsweek Magazine which said Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and the Rockefeller family would "guarantee" him $500,000 in campaign expenses.

Lindsay said "no such promises" had been made.

LOFTY LABOR—It's a long way down (700 feet to be exact) but this painter on San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge goes about his work as if he were on the ground. Not one painter has lost his life in the 28 years of the famed bridge's existence even though the big bridge takes plenty of attention, requiring 6,000 gallons of "international orange" every year.

Learns to Chew Gum as Copilot Abhors Smoke

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Mrs. Tig Penneck learned to chew gum instead of smoking cigarettes during a transcontinental air race because her copilot abhors smoke.

"I almost went nuts," said the Santa Ana, Calif., flight instructor, as she relaxed here after flying 2,400 miles from El Cajon, Calif., in the 19th annual Powder Puff Derby.

"I gave up smoking in deference to my co-pilot," said Mrs. Penneck, referring to Mrs. Thon Abbott of Costa Mesa, Calif. "Oh, it was painful. She taught me to chew gum and I was so nervous I chewed all day, and at night my gums were sore."

This is only one kind of suffering experienced by the 76 pilots in the race, which ends at noon today. The winner will be judged tonight according to handicaps and pars, as in golf, after computer tabulates time-tables.

Killed by Truck

HERKIMER, N.Y. (AP)—Charles Slabe, 48, of Little Falls, was killed Tuesday night when a truck backed over him.

The accident occurred at a construction site on Route 28 about three miles north of here.

Rob Sanitation Office

Theft of $135 from the office of the Dutchess Sanitation Co., Town of Poughkeepsie, is under investigation by police in that community, who said a soda vending machine also was rifled of an undetermined amount of change.

'Union-Busting' Laid to Auburn Prison Officials

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A union that has been picketing state prisons for several months in an effort to get a wage increase for prison guards has charged Auburn Prison officials with "union-busting."

Alfred B. Wurf, executive director of the New York Employees Council 5; (AFL-CIO), said prisoners were used to unload trucks on city streets Tuesday after the drivers refused to cross a picket line of about 12 off-duty prison guards.

The trucks were carrying steel for automobile license plates, which are manufactured at the prison.

The prison's head keeper, John T. Deegan, said the prisoners were only doing their jobs. Deegan said correction officers on duty also helped unload the trucks.

In a telegram sent to Gov. Rockefeller, Wurf accused Warden J. Edwin LaVallee and Correction Commissioner Paul D. union-busting and "filthy tactics."

Neither Rockefeller nor McGinnis had any comment.

Ashokan Troop Renews Charter, Presents Awards

Boy Scout Troop 63 of Ashokan recently completed its 29th year of Scouting with a special outdoor program held in back of the Scoutmaster's house.

The program was officially opened under the direction of senior patrol leader William Tucker. The program was then turned over to the two patrol leaders for scoutcraft demonstrations by the patrols. The Panther Patrol under the leadership of Russell Holt made trips and demonstrated rope throwing over a cross-bar placed on top of the tripods. The Dragon Patrol, with John Adsit as its leader enacted a first-aid situation.

The new troop charter was presented to Raymond C. Cruthers, Commander of American Legion Olive Memorial Post 1627 which sponsors Troop 63. Commander Cruthers made appropriate remarks in accepting the Charter on behalf of the Legion Post and then presented the adult Scouters with their registration cards. Troop Committee Chairman Charles Holt presented the National Camping Award to E. Lee Denman, troop camping and activities committee member.

Chairman Holt and other members then presented the Scouts with the following service pins: one year to Douglas Bell, Lee Denman and Robert Davidson; two year to John Adsit, Paul Dolce, Vincent Casablanca, Louis Mancuso, Paul Mushit, James Mercurio, Thomas Tucker; three year to Russell Holt; four year to Roy Olsen and William Tucker; six year to Brian Castle and seven year pin to George Bundy. Attendance awards were presented to James Mercurio for the first year and to John Adsit and Roger Adsit for a second year.

The program was then turned over to Scoutmaster Thomas Fickus for the tenderfoot investiture ceremony of James Adsit and Clifford Secor.

The campfire was lighted and a group of senior Scouts led the group with appropriate campfire songs. A skit based on troop activities during the past year was presented by William Fox, George Bundy, Roy Olsen, William Tucker, and John Adsit. Plans for the summer meetings were then reviewed by Scoutmaster Fickus with special invitation extended to all of the fathers present to attend the father-son-get-together to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Castle on July 6. The campfire program was then closed with the singing of the Scout vespers song and the playing of Tans by Assistant Scoutmaster William Fox. Refreshments were served.

Salvation Army Camp Will Open July 29

Applications will be received Friday at the local Salvation Army headquarters on North Front Street for attendance at the Saddle Lake Camp of the Salvation Army.

Brigadier Jacob Hohn revealed today that the camp located north of Saratoga Springs, will operate from July 29 to August 4 for boys of the ages of 6 to 9; August 7 through August 18 for boys between the ages of 10 to 12; and August 21 through September 1 for girls of all ages.

Hohn stated that the applications will be reviewed at local headquarters, and urged that all interested in attending the camp apply on Friday.

Delphine Dodge Weds

SARATOGA, Calif. (AP)—Delphine (Dede) Ione Dodge, 36, a granddaughter of the founder of the Dodge Motor Car Co., was married Tuesday in Saratoga, Calif.

She and the groom, Charles Boyer Richards Cornelius of Providence, R.I., left after a champagne reception for a Hawaiian islands honeymoon.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, July 7, the 188th day of 1965. There are 177 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1898, a joint resolution was passed by Congress annexing the Hawaiian Islands to the United States.

On this date In 1776, the Declaration of Independence was read to the Colonial Army.

In 1846, Commodore J.S. Sloat raised the American flag over Monterey after the surrender of its Mexican garrison and proclaimed that California was annexed to the United States.

In 1853, Commodore Matthew Perry arrived in Japan.

In 1945, President Harry S. Truman and Secretary of State James F. Byrnes left Norfolk, Va., on a cruiser for the Potsdam Conference.

Ten years ago—The government announced a loss of more than $643 million in price support operations for the first 11 months of the fiscal year.

Five years ago—Belgians and other Europeans began a mass flight from the Congo following attacks by mutinous Congolese Army soldiers.

One year ago—The Soviet Union, in a reversal of policy, called for a permanent United Nations force to secure world peace.

Undergoes Surgery

RABAT, Morocco (AP)—King Hassan II of Morocco underwent a minor operation in Rabat Monday for what was described as a benign inflammatory lesion.

A communique from the palace said the operation lasted about 40 minutes and was successful.

Dear Abby . . . You've Got A Choice!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 31-year-old woman who has been divorced five years. I have two children. We live with my parents as my mother is always at home, which makes it convenient for me to work. Besides, if I had my own place it would put a strain on my budget, and my job requires that I dress well and own my own car. I do pay room and board, however.

All my life my father has been domineering, unreasonable and very narrow-minded. Even my mother has never dared to cross him. If I am not in by 12 o'clock, he goes out looking for me. He has burst into places, insulted my escort, and has literally dragged me home with him. My friends have all been respectable, but after such a scene, they never call again.

I don't want to move out as it is so very comfortable and convenient having Mother to look after my children, and do all the laundry and cooking and cleaning. But I can't live like this, either. What would you do if you were in my shoes?

WANTS FREEDOM

DEAR WANTS: Which do you want more? The convenience of a live-in cook, cleaning woman and 24-hour baby sitting service? Or the right to live your own life? Obviously, you can't have both. If I were in your shoes, I would prefer the latter. And the longer you wait, the more difficult the break will be.

DEAR ABBY: I suspected that my husband was running around with a certain girl so I had him tailed by a private detective. They followed him to a motel where he checked in with this girl. They stayed only 32 minutes and then left. Do you think he could be guilty of wrongdoing?

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: You're his wife; I'll ask you. Could he?

DEAR ABBY: In a club initiation recently I had to shoplift a pair of shoes. I did this easily at a self-service shoe mart: by taking a new pair of shoes and replacing them with an old pair I wore in. I didn't feel guilty while I was doing it but I do now. I wanted to get into this club at all costs because all the cool kids belong. What should I do?

FEELING GUILTY

DEAR FEELING: Return the stolen shoes to the manager of the shoe mart, explain the circumstances and take the consequences. Since you wore the shoes out of the store, prepare to pay for them. I suggest you find "cooler" kids to go with before you end up in the "cooler."

DEAR ABBY: What do you say to a person who asks a lot of very personal questions in a crowd? This woman said to me, "It's funny that you've been married almost four years and don't have any children. Don't you WANT any? Or can't you HAVE any?"

NO NERVE

DEAR NO NERVE: The neck will inherit a lot of earthy questions. Muster the courage to tell her that it is none of her business.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., for Abby's booklet, "HOW TO WRITE LETTERS FOR ALL OCCASIONS."

Trespassing Conviction At Edisto Beach Park

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Thirteen persons, including two New York law students have been convicted of trespassing on nearby Edisto Beach Park, an area closed in 1956 by the Legislature to avoid integration of its facilities.

The defendants, who included Negroes and whites, were given the option of a $50 fine each or 30 days in jail. Defense attorneys said they would appeal the verdict.

Among those arrested Sunday were Dennis Barrett of Webster, N.Y., and David F. Lawlor, 23, of Brooklyn, N.Y. Both are working this summer as law clerks in the office of Russell Brown, president of the Charleston chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Half Century Late

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The Wisconsin State Capitol was to be dedicated today — half a century behind schedule.

Formal dedication ceremonies were overlooked when the statehouse was completed in 1915. After a restoration and cleaning program, the christening was set for today.

TAKE A LETTER—This, according to Hollywood, is a secretary's working costume. It's modeled by Joi Lansing, who plays Dean Martin's secretary in "Marriage on the Rocks."

Former Greats Set to Testify

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a flashback to the rosy-hued days when Jack Dempsey and Rocky Marciano were heavyweight champions, a House committee looks today at the way things are now in the boxing age of Cassius Clay and Sonny Liston.

"You're going to hear a different story," fight manager Cus D'Amato told newsmen after listening to Dempsey and Marciano tell how things were and how they should be now.

D'Amato, who was in Floyd Patterson's corner when he won the heavyweight championship, didn't explain what he would tell the House Interstate Commerce Committee which is considering a bill to establish a federal boxing commission.

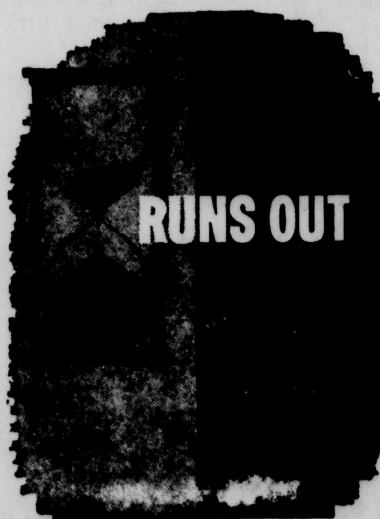

Also scheduled to testify were Nat Fleischer, editor of Ring magazine who was at ringside for the Clay-Liston bout in Lewiston, Maine; Fred Brooks of Sportsvision, the firm that handled the theater TV showing of the bout, and Melvin L. Krulwich, chairman of the New York Athletic Commission which barred Liston from fighting there.

Although the names of Clay and Liston keep bobbing up in the inquiry they are not yet scheduled to make a personal appearance.

A bill introduced by Committee Chairman Oren Harris, D-Ark., would set up a boxing commission. It would give the commission authority to prohibit a wire service, radio or television from carrying an account of a professional bout in interstate commerce whenever it determines that the bout "will be in any way affected by bribery, collusion to effect the result, intentional losing, racketeering, including terrorism, extortion, organized use of threats, coercion, intimidation, or use of violence."

Both Dempsey and Marciano urged that the commission be given authority to license boxers, promoters, managers and even seconds. Both said that a bout should not be allowed on television without approval of the proposed commission.

Dempsey and Marciano argued that boxing was in such sorry shape that it needed drastic help.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The busy airline purchasing agents are even more free-handed than earlier reports indicated.

A new survey by the Air Transport Association shows orders of new equipment should top $3 billion before the end of the year.

The airlines say this rate of capital investment exceeds that of any other major industry in the country.

Others than the planemakers getting the orders will benefit. The airlines point out that most of the new equipment will be short- and medium-range aircraft designed to serve the intermediate cities. This would answer some of the complaints that these cities have been bypassed by the big jets.

The new equipment, when all is delivered by the end of 1967, will increase available seat miles by 48 per cent.

The airlines also say that the investments and the increased productivity from the new equipment should create 50,000 new jobs by 1970. The airlines now employ about 190,000 in the air and on the ground.

The survey to be released later this week shows that as of June 30 orders totaled 480 aircraft at a purchase cost of $2.4 billion. Of these, 308 are Boeing 727, 737, Douglas DC9s and British made BAC 111 jets, designed primarily for the short-haul and medium-range markets.

The big expansion comes on top of a spurt in 1964 which found the airlines new spending equalling 23 per cent of the purchase cost of the property and equipment they had in service at the beginning of that year.

The association points out that at the end of World War II the cost of property and equipment operated by the airlines was $125 million. By the end of 1954 this had multiplied to $1.25 billion. By the end of 1964 the investment totaled $5 billion.

Finding the money to finance this growth has been a headache at times. And ahead is the supersonic age, when the planes will be priced at $25 million to $35 million each.

The airlines have gone deeply into debt at times to finance their growth. Today the ratio is 60 per cent debt and 40 per cent equity. The association says the goal is to reverse this by the early 1970s. If so, they'll be in better condition to finance the expensive switch to supersonic planes.

Helping with the financing of the new rush of orders for the medium-range jets is the increased earnings of most airlines this year.

The new equipment is counted on to make the lines even more profitable in time. And that is why they have chosen to expand now rather than retrench after the four lean years of 1960 through 1963 which saw many report losses.

U. S. Savings Bonds Holdings Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—Public holdings of U. S. Savings Bonds increased $61 million in June, the Treasury has reported. The total of Series E and H bonds outstanding reached a record high of $48,795,000. Cash sales in the month totaled $362 million, the report showed.

Rocky Signs Harness Bill

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A bill permitting harness racing practically year-round in New York State was signed Tuesday by Gov. Rockefeller.

The measure also established a plan under which up to $1.5 million a year that ordinarily would go into the state treasury may be used as purses at harness tracks.

The harness season has extended from the third Thursday in February to the Saturday of the first full week of December. The new law allows harness racing from Jan. 3 to Dec. 15.

The law, sponsored by Sen. Thomas Laverne, R-Rochester, establishes the New York State Horse Breeding Development Fund.

Laverne said the measure was intended to encourage the breeding of harness-race horses within the state. This he said, would help the state's farmers by expanding their market for grain.

The fund will be financed from money realized from "breaks"—the odd cents for each dime on winning tickets at harness tracks. The tracks in the state divide this income.

Look-Alikes Can Drive

BILLERICA, Mass. (AP)—Inspector Alvin King had no trouble filling in the descriptions on three new driver's licenses.

When you've seen one of the Danner triplets you've seen them all.

The 16-year-old girls, Frances, Sandra and Diane, took their driver's tests and all passed.

Plan to Send Living Frogs Into Orbit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore plan to send living frogs into orbit in an unmanned satellite.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said it has accepted the school's preliminary design for a life support system to sustain the frogs in a four-day orbit.

NASA said the experiment will study the effects upon the living organisms of alternating periods of weightlessness and acceleration.

Overlook Methodist Church Services

The women of Overlook Methodist Church will put on an old fashioned ice cream social Saturday, July 10, from 5 till 9 p. m. at the church hall. Strawberry shortcake, sundaes, and other delicious food will be featured. The public is invited.

Sunday morning worship during July and August is at 10 a. m. A nursery is available during the worship hour. The sermon topic this week is "Children In The Market Place." The soloist will be Lawrence Stove, who will play the clarinet arrangement of Mendelssohn's "Melodie." Mrs. Richard Jeffrey will be at the organ.

Vacation Church School will be held August 9-13. Mrs. Eugene Marynowski, who is in charge of the school this year, announces that classes will be held for children from the age of 3 through the sixth public school grade. The sessions will begin at 9 a. m. and close at 11:30 each day. There will be music and songs, flannelgraph stories, games, crafts, and Bible lessons... and a "juice and cookie" break each morning. The program is being sponsored by the Education Commission of the church, William Fisher, chairman.

Memorial Showing of Art

A memorial show of paintings, etchings and drawings by Ivan Summers, (1886-1964) will be held at the Lewis Gallery in Woodstock, opening July 9 and continuing through July 18.

Born on an Illinois farm, Ivan Summers took his first art instruction from a correspondence course. He then studied four years at the St. Louis School of Fine Arts and, after working as a commercial artist, came to Woodstock in 1916 to study with John F. Carlson, instructor of landscape painting at the Art Students' League Summer School.

Deciding to make landscape painting his work, he acquired a studio in Woodstock. He exhibited widely, winning many prizes, and also illustrated medical textbooks, a work which took him to many sections of the country. Wherever he went, Ivan Summers painted landscapes and had exhibitions.

He taught at the Kansas City Art Institute and the Flagstaff, (Ariz.) Normal College.

The Lewis Gallery is located opposite the Woodstock Playhouse.

400 at Jazz Concert

Some 400 people were on hand to hear Robin Wetterau's band. The Easy Winners in the opening jazz concert at the Woodstock Playhouse Monday night. The enthusiastic audience heard a variety of the old jazz songs, as well as several newly composed blues by Robin Wetterau, played in the rollicking and moving spirit of the great days of New Orleans jazz. The Easy Winners are fast becoming leaders in the current renaissance of traditional jazz dance music.

LaBoheme Opens Season Friday at Turnau Opera

The Turnau Opera Players of Woodstock will open their eleventh season of opera in English with Puccini's La Boheme on Friday, July 9, at the Byrdcliffe Theatre. The program will be repeated on July 10, 12, and 13.

David Dodds, an American Opera Auditions award winner, will make his local debut in the leading role of Rodolfo. Warren Wilson, director of the Turnau group this year, was assistant director last season. A musician of varied experience, he has recently completed a nationwide tour as accompanist to William Warfield.

He has played for the Oratorio Society and the Collegiate Chorale, and assisted at the Metropolitan Opera studio. In 1961, in the preparation of Cosi Fan Tutti. That opera will be the next presentation at Byrdcliffe, opening July 16.

Assistant director this year is Herbert Kaplan, pianist, a graduate of Yale and the Vienna Akademie of Music.

When the Turnau Opera players leave Woodstock in September, carrying sets, props and costumes in a converted school bus; singers and staff in cars, they begin a cross country tour of performances which ends at their winter home, the Asolo Theatre in Sarasota, Fla.

Sacrament Is Topic At Christian Science

The record of Jesus' last supper and his meeting with the disciples after his resurrection will be reviewed in the Bible Lesson-Sermon to be heard in all Christian Science churches this Sunday, July 11.

The subject is "Sacrament," and the Golden Text is from I Corinthians: "Let us keep the feast, not with old leaven, neither with the leaven of malice and wickedness; but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth."

One of the related passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook will include these lines: "In the quiet sanctuary of earnest longings, we must deny sin and plead God's aliveness. We must resolve to take up the cross, and go forth with honest hearts to work and watch for wisdom, Truth and Love" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 15).

Sunday morning service in Woodstock, 85 Tinker Street, are held at 11 a. m. All are welcome.

Fire Co. 3 Will Hold Regular Drill Sunday

Sunday, July 11 at 9:30 a. m., Woodstock Fire Co. No. 3 of the Willow-Lake Hill-Shady area will hold its regular fire drill. Active members are requested to assemble promptly at the firehouse in Lake Hill, according to Captain Alfred Ostrander.

The second fire drill for July is scheduled for Wednesday evening, July 28, beginning at 7 p. m.

On Monday evening, July 26, at 8 p. m. the quarterly meeting of the four companies comprising the Woodstock Fire Department, will be held at the firehouse in Zena. All active firemen from the Town of Woodstock are urged to attend this meeting.

To Build Post Office WASHINGTON (AP) — Keuka College in Keuka Park, N.Y., has been authorized to build a new Post Office. The $37,040 building will be completed by March 1966.

The Post Office Department said Tuesday that the government will lease the building for 10 years at an annual rental of $3,253. It will have the option of renewing the lease for another 10 years.

Governor Signs Bill Extending Racing Season

MONTICELLO — The controversial Laverne bill, which extends the state's harness racing season to nearly a full year, yesterday was signed into law by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Under the measure, the present harness racing season will be extended 50 days, starting Jan. 3 and running through Dec. 15. The new law also revises the state's share of breakage from parimutuel betting and provides for agriculture and New York State horse breeding development fund.

Prior to approval of the bill, the state's harness racing season ran from the third Thursday in February to the Saturday of the first full week in December.

The change in breakage is expected to double the state's share, with a portion going to the newly formed agriculture and horse breeding fund.

The immediate effect of the bill probably will be felt at New York's two metropolitan tracks, Yonkers and Roosevelt Raceways. The tracks split their meetings presently and are expected to continue the practice. They alternate openings each year and the Laverne bill will enable them to open earlier and close later.

May Not Affect Big M

Monticello Raceway's dates probably won't be affected. Administrative vice president Leon Greenberg said Monticello's dates are predicated on Yonkers and Roosevelt's dates, keeping in mind an opening near the Memorial Day weekend and closing sometime after the Labor Day weekend.

Monticello opened May 13 this year, its earliest start ever. But it opened the day after Yonkers Raceway closed its spring meet. Raceway officials acknowledge that their season gets off to a better start when they compete against Roosevelt instead of Yonkers.

The bill is seen as a boom to the area's rapidly growing standard-bred breeding industry.

However, "it will be a big boost to the Orange-Sullivan County area," Greenberg said. "It will help the breeding industry and in the long run, will provide us with a greater complement of horses."

Greenberg said the bill is a "tribute to the Orange County area Harness Horse Owners and Breeders Association," which long has championed legislation which would aid harness horse breeding in New York State.

Rep. King Appointed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Carleton J. King, who represents the eight-county 30th District in northeastern New York, has been named to a newly formed House Republican task force on the United Nations.

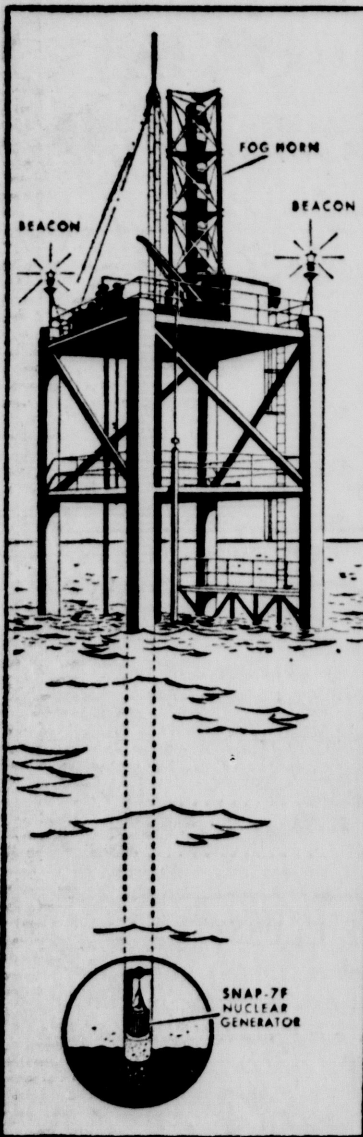

The announcement was made Tuesday by Rep. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., chairman of the House GOP Committee on Planning and Research. Goodell represents the five-county 38th District in New York State's southern tier.

Gets $3,200 at Loan

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A bandit held up the Coral Gables Savings and Loan Association Tuesday and escaped with $3,200, just after a police chief had walked out.

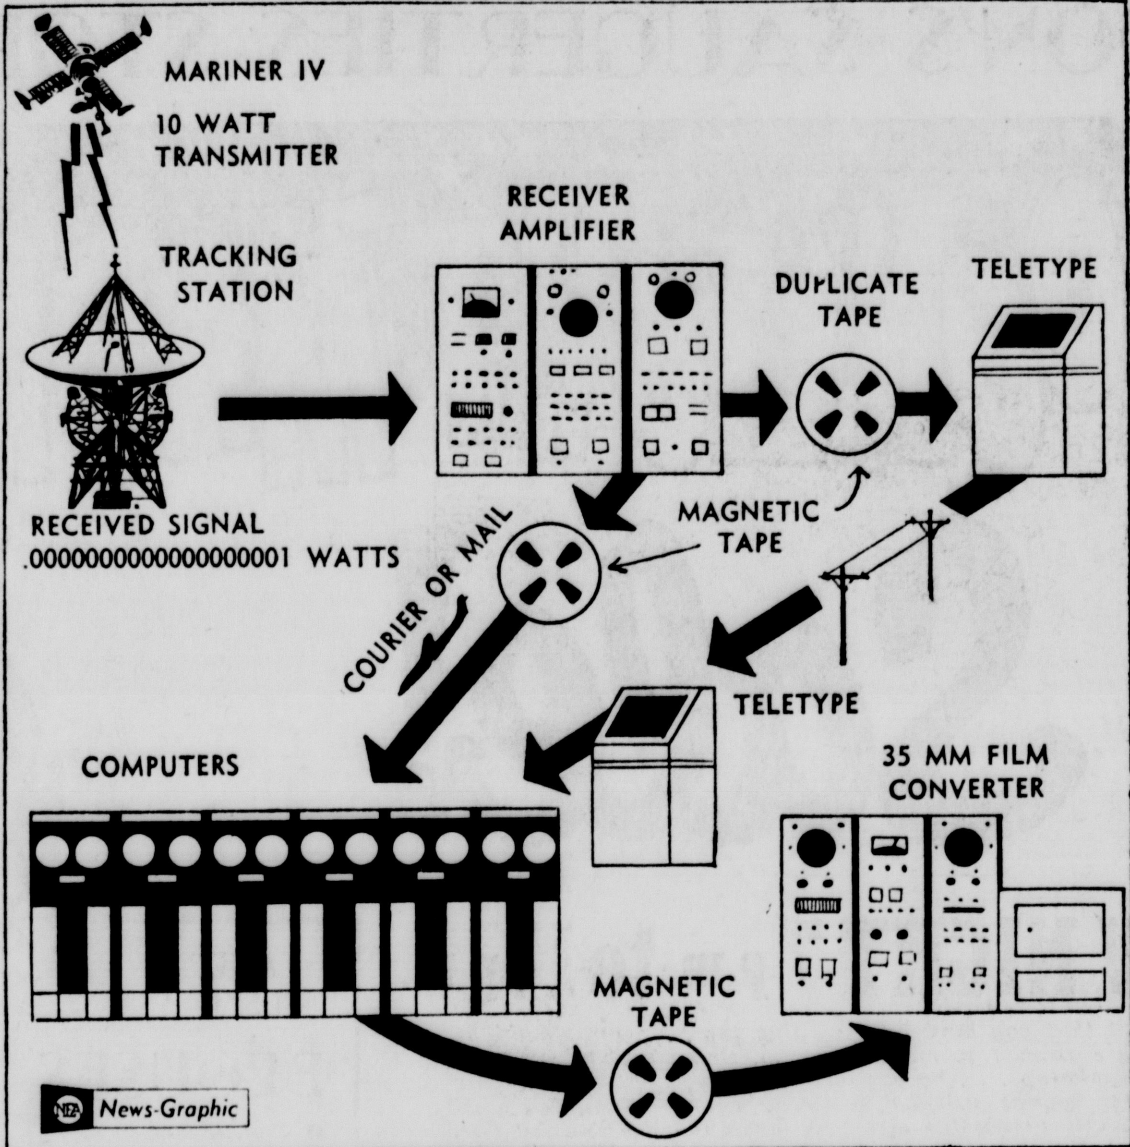

The robber handed two tellers a briefcase and told them to "fill it up." He did not show a weapon. Police Chief Jack Knight of the nearby community of Sweetwater had just made a mortgage payment and walked out.

Supermarkets of the U.S. sold more than two billion broiler-fryer chickens during 1964.

MESSAGES FROM MARINER...

The complicated task of decoding the first close-up pictures of Mars, scheduled to be taken by Mariner IV when it passes the planet on July 14, is diagrammed above. Mariner will take about 20 pictures in 24 minutes, storing them on magnetic tape.

As transmission begins, the pictures are converted into computer digits. Each picture is made up of some 40,000 dots in 64 shades from white to black. Intermixed with other data such as instrument readings, each picture takes more than eight hours to be radioed to earth.

The signals—reduced by distance (134 million miles) to one-tenth of a billionth of a watt—are picked up by one or more tracking stations. Magnetic tapes are sent to Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, Calif., and duplicate tapes relayed by teletype.

At Pasadena, computers separate the picture message from other data. The resulting tape is then fed into a digital photographic processor which converts each digit into its proper shade of gray. The dots are electronically projected onto a cathode ray tube, similar to a home television tube. The screen is photographed and the picture developed.

The first pictures will be released immediately to the public, probably within 36 hours. Engineers will refine later pictures by comparing two or three playback tapes.

Greene Free-Jazz Quartet to Play At Guild Hall

The Burton Greene Quartet will offer a program of free-jazz improvisations at the Guild Hall, 34 Tinker Street, Woodstock on July 17 at 8:30 p. m. The Quartet consists of Burton Greene, piano; Ken McIntyre, oboe, alto saxophone, Bass clarinet, and flute; Roger Blank, percussion; and Reggie Johnson, bass. A feature of the presentation will be accompaniment to a film especially prepared for this type of music by Herb Goldzman, who will join the quartet for this bit.

Free-jazz improvisation, as performed by this group, is a spontaneous, unified expression derived from mutual collaboration as well as individual performance. Although the working procedure of the group is couched in the current context of collective, free-jazz improvisation, the music expresses a broader human vocabulary of thought, feeling, and inner experience. Purely musical derivations are from both East and West, from Oriental and Indian music, from pre-Bach to Post-Webern, from Charlie Parker to Ornette Coleman.

Recent concerts by Burton Greene have included several under the auspices of the Jazz Composers' Guild of New York City at Judson Hall and the Contemporary Center. The Jazz Composers' Guild, concerned by what it considers a lack of representation of the most vital elements in the mainstream of our contemporary musical culture, has established the following goals: establishment of music to its rightful place in society; the awakening of all people to the essentiality of music; the protection of musicians and composers from exploitation; the provision of opportunity to hear the music; and facilities for the proper creation, rehearsal, performance, and dissemination of the music.

Wyoming Court Considers Briggs Plea for Writ

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — Norman Briggs, fighting extradition to New York where he is charged with child abandonment and insurance fraud, was expected to be released today on $10,000 bond while the Wyoming Supreme Court considers his request for a writ of habeas corpus.

Briggs accurately predicted Tuesday before his request was heard by the court that he thought "the court will set bond and then talk this thing over for a few weeks."

The former insurance man disappeared about five years ago while swimming in a reservoir near Troy, N.Y., where he lived with his wife and two children. It was assumed he had drowned. He was discovered several months ago working as a cowhand on a ranch in the Newcastle, Wyo., area under the name of Clayton Hollister.

Ringo Starr Has 25th Birthday, He's Millionaire

LONDON (AP) — Beatle drummer Ringo Starr celebrated his 25th birthday today — a moderately good musician, an expectant father, a millionaire and a talented comic.

He is the oldest of the quartet, the others being John Lennon, 25 next Oct. 9; Paul McCartney, 23 on June 18, and George Harrison, 22 on Feb. 25.

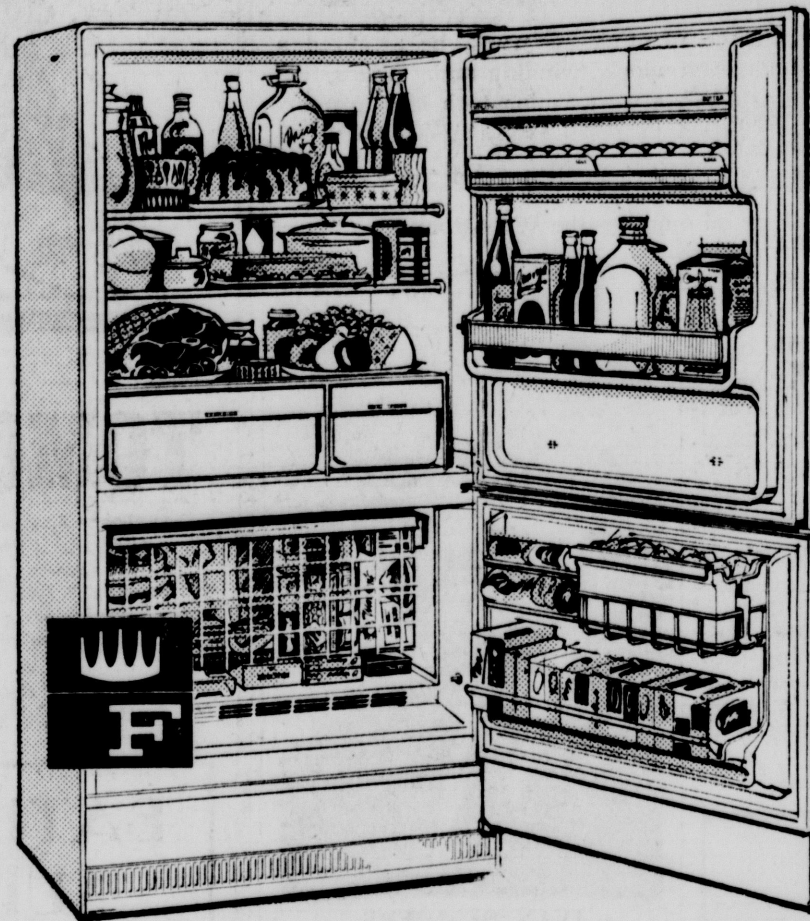

"When the pop bubble finally bursts," the Daily Mirror said recently, "Ringo could be the Beatle with the career as a comic."

"He has that great gift of being natural," said Walter Shenson, the American producer of the Beatles' two movies. "Many an actor longs for this. The first time I talked to him about acting, he said, 'Me? Why I can't act.' I told him, 'All right, but whatever you do — just keep doing it.'"

Grinding Out Legislation

Congress Busy, but LBJ And Viet War Deflect Attention

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — At another time what Congress is doing now would be wrapped in breathless attention and conflict. But success feeds on itself and in these peculiar days what seemed impossible now seems routine.

This is a busy Congress and, before this session is over, will have been a highly productive one. However, public interest has been distracted by the war in Viet Nam and the personality of President Johnson.

In getting Congress to trot along with him, Johnson has had two things working for him: his own endless pressure on the men in the Capitol and the fact that his own Democrats thoroughly outnumber the Republicans.

And there is not now in Congress a controversial figure — like Sens Joseph McCarthy, Robert A. Taft or Barry Goldwater — who splits public thinking and, while getting attention himself, draws attention to Congress.

From a presidential standpoint this probably is an ideal Congress: legislators who for the most part stick to their knitting, don't fuss much and grind out the legislation.

Besides all this, some of the most important legislation moving through Congress this year was fought over wildly or loudly so many times before it lost its edge.

Two examples: federal aid to grade and high schools, passed earlier this year, and Medicare which will almost certainly go through.

There was hardly a ripple when Congress only Tuesday completed what no Congress in history ever managed to do before:

This was approval, by the House last week and the Senate Tuesday, of a proposed constitutional amendment spelling out procedures to deal with presidential disability and to keep the vice presidency filled.

This won't become part of the Constitution until at least 38 state legislatures also approve but they're expected to without any trouble, although not before 1967. Action on this was a major achievement in itself.

Before Congress took its Fourth of July vacation it already had passed — in addition to the school aid bill — two other top Johnson programs: reduction in federal excise taxes and aid to the Appalachia area.

As soon as it returned Tuesday, after clearing the proposed amendment, the Senate went to work on the Social Security health care bill. This would raise Social Security benefits and set up health care programs for those 65 or older.

The House got down to work in a hurry, too. It opened debate on the 1965 civil rights bill — to protect Negroes' voting rights — although on this there will be some struggle.

Nevertheless, in one form or another, it seems sure to pass. The Senate previously had approved a similar measure, just as the House previously had approved its version of the Medicare bill now before the Senate.

Further, Congress also is almost certain to approve an urban affairs department, a $5.5-billion housing bill, and aid to higher education.

Johnson has suffered some limited rebuffs and before Congress quits for the year he may suffer some defeats on what he has asked but, as it shapes up, the record of this Congress will be impressive and remembered.

VIET NAM

Open Letter to Dear Wife

Women Have Tough Life In Viet Nam, But Like It

By HAL BOYLE

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — An open letter home: Dear friend wife:

Believe me, baby, when I get back home you're going to be the one who carries out the garbage. It's an old Vietnamese custom that a lot of American men over here are beginning to think makes sense.

I know that there is nothing makes a U.S. woman madder than to tell her she has an easy life — that she is overprivileged and underworked. But I tell you, roundeyes, your eyes would get even rounder if you saw how Vietnamese women live — and apparently like it.

Men have only two chief labor-saving devices in this country — women and water buffaloes. The women work harder.

Rice and Babies

In the rice paddy country the men and the buffaloes feel they've done their bit when they've finished plowing. But women toil in the fields, tend the kids, do the cooking and the laundering, and take care of the chickens, ducks and pigs. The ideal wife is one who produces a good rice crop and a baby every year.

Most of the country's products seem to be transported on women's backs. They use bamboo shoulder poles from which heavily loaded baskets are suspended fore and aft. To balance the baskets, the women walk with a peculiar rhythmic shuffle. The Vietnamese toiler earns her dough the hard way in the city, too. About 20 per cent of the labor force is feminine.

Tough Jobs in City

Women work as ditch diggers, dock wallopers, hod carriers, plasterers and as laborers on heavy construction projects. They get a daily wage of from about 85 cents to $1.20 — depending on their skills. "The average woman gets almost twice as much done as a man in a day," said an American construction engineer. "Of course, I don't know whether she lasts as long."

Pretty Cheerful

"But they're all pretty cheerful about life, hard as it is. They aren't nearly as frustrated as our women back home. Maybe they've got the answer over here."

It seems that the harder wives work, the fewer husbands die of ulcers and coronaries.

Well, I guess that's about all the good news I have to report for now. When I get home, get ready to set another rice bowl on the table. By the way, I'm bringing along a bamboo shoulder pole — to make your trips to the supermarket a little easier. You'll get the hang of it in no time, and be the envy of all the other wives in the neighborhood.

Your ever-thoughtful husband Harold

Gets $3 for Two Sacks Of Bran 42 Yrs. Later

CLOVIS, N.M. (AP) — A Clovis man has received a $3 payment for two sacks of bran sold by his father to a Nebraska farmer 42 years ago.

Bob Lea said his father, V. E. Lea, lives in Falls City, Neb., but the payment was forwarded here where the father is visiting.

The payment and an original $2.30 statement for the bran purchases in 1923 arrived with this explanation:

"I was going through some old papers and found this. Enclosed is $3 on a much overdue account."

The sender was unidentified.

Catholics, Lutherans Form Working Group

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Roman Catholic Church and the Lutheran World Federation have agreed to form a working group "to intensify and extend official contacts" between the two churches.

An announcement issued here and in Geneva Monday said seven members from each church have been appointed to the group. Vatican sources said it was the first such agreement between the Roman Catholic Church and a single Protestant church.

Death by the Carload

Crash Program for Safer Cars Aimed at Big Manufacturers

By BILL McCORMICK

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — There are three primary causes for the frightening automobile death toll in the United States — bad roads, bad drivers and unsafe automobiles.

Abraham Ribicoff is taking dead aim at the cars.

"The monkey is on the back of the Detroit automobile industry," says the senator from Connecticut, "and it will stay there until it installs safety features in the automobiles in which we ride."

"I do not place all the blame on the auto makers. We need better roads. We need better drivers. We need better cars. But, in the long run, we particularly need safer cars."

Ribicoff points out that no matter how safe we make roads, how carefully we weed out and educate drivers, there still will be accidents.

"It is up to the manufacturers to provide vehicles that will lessen injuries and reduce deaths when the inevitable collisions occur," he maintains.

See Big Saving

"Safety people who have studied the matter estimate that between one-third and 45 per cent of those who now lose their lives in automobile accidents could be saved if some simple safety features were incorporated in the automobile," says Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., another senator who is crusading for vehicular safety.

Ribicoff tried to have manufacturers denied the recent three per cent excise tax reduction unless they embodied certain safety features in their products. When that failed he took umbrage — and direct action.

"My subcommittee studying the federal role in traffic safety resumes hearings July 13," he says. "I have invited the presidents of the Big Four manufacturers to attend and explain what they have done and are now doing to plan for the future regarding automobile safety."

"I expect them to tell me not about the driver and his habits; not about the roads and their inadequacies; but about their product and what consideration they give in making it to the lives and property of the driver and his passengers."

Safety Features

The safety features Ribicoff wanted embodied in the Detroit product were 17 improvements required in automobiles purchased by the government after June 30, this year. Included were anchorage for seat belts, padded dash and visors, recessed dash instruments, impact-absorbing steering wheel, safety glass all around (not just in windshields), brake systems that operate manually from the same application if the hydraulic system fails and standard bumper heights.

No immediate estimate has been made of the costs of the new safety features, but it is generally believed they can be installed for about $100 per car.

The industry stand generally is that their Detroit engineers are better qualified than any "experts" the government can dig up to determine safety factors and that manufacturers themselves are more than anxious to embody any practical accident-resistant features in their products.

Many designers and safety experts propose even more radical improvements than those now demanded by the government and advocated by Ribicoff and others for public sale.

An insurance company and the engineering department of a midwestern university both have developed advanced safety car types which some contend could save as many as 640,000 lives over the next 15 years.

Henry Wakeland, a respected automotive consultant, recently showed his design for a prototype with standing steel pillars which, with a heavy body structure, would "place a strong container around" the driver. Wake-land proposes padding on the rear of front seats to protect the person riding in the rear seat, springs to shield passengers from crushable hood and trunk, and hydraulic bumpers made of honeycomb aluminum and adjusted not to override bumpers on other cars.

Some day, these rather science fiction cars may be on the road, but right now men like Ribicoff the Nelson would settle for just the few simple features mandatory in government automobiles.

Buddington-Bradley Double Ring Nuptials Are Held at St. Mary's Church on June 26

(Reynolds photo)

The double ring wedding of Miss Amelia Veronica Bradley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Bradley of 9 Wynkoop Place and Barry Lawrence Buddington took place Saturday, June 26, at 3 p. m. in St. Mary's Church.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Mildred Buddington of 8 Wynkoop Place and the late Alwyn Buddington.

The Rev. Edward I. Farrelly officiated with Theodore Riccobono as organist. Vases of white gladioli with greens decorated the church for the occasion.

Escorted in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of satin faced with peau de soie and Alencon lace. Her lace edged mantilla was worn with a high Spanish comb. She carried an arm bouquet of white daisies with showers of ribbons.

Miss Cheryl Bradley was honor attendant for her sister. She wore an aquamarine linen gown with matching Dior bow and carried a basket of yellow daisies and pompons.

Miss Jane Engle of Kingston and Mrs. David Buddington, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, were the other bridal attendants. They wore maize linen gowns with matching bows and carried baskets of aqua daisies and yellow pompons.

Donald L. Buddington of Lexington, Ky., was best man for his brother. Ushers were Donald J. Bradley of Washington, D. C., brother of the bride and David L. Buddington of Kingston, brother of the bridegroom.

A reception for 100 guests was held at the Elks Club in Kingston.

After a wedding trip to Lake George, the couple will reside at 130 Stephan Street, this city. For traveling, Mrs. Buddington wore a pink linen dress with white accessories and a corsage of white roses.

The bride, a graduate of Kingston High School and Beauty School of Kingston is employed at Florence Shea's Beauty Salon.

Mr. Buddington is a graduate of Kingston High School and a veteran of four years service with the U. S. Navy. He is employed at Ferrocube, Mt. Marion.

Teen Riots Express Lack of Confidence According to Doctor

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Teen-agers who riot are in terror of the adult world which they feel inadequate to enter, says Dr. Rhoda Lorand, a psychotherapist who specializes in treating youngsters.

Boys who whooped it up at several summer resorts last weekend "were expressing lack of confidence in their own masculinity as well as hostility toward their parents and a need to discharge sexual excitement in this disturbed way," Dr. Lorand said in an interview.

The girls who went along with the rioting have the same hostile feelings, she said.

"The adult world seems dangerous to all these youngsters because they feel so inadequate to cope with its demands for achievement and self-control and sexual responsibility. In a large group they give each other support for acting out their childish fears."

"Approval of the group serves the same function that approval of the parents does for young children. If these youngsters had not felt hopelessly unable to please their parents, or too full of hostility to want to, they could have identified with them — assuming the parents are law-abiding and self-controlled individuals — instead of feeling in continuous revolt against them."

Many people, says Dr. Lorand, explain the riots as nothing but lack of discipline. "But some young people who act the worst have been subjected to extremely harsh discipline — too harsh," she said.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white gown of Alencon lace and silk organza posted over bridal taffeta fashioned with a scalloped bodice, long lace sleeves tapered to points over the wrists and a bouffant hooped skirt which terminated in a chapel length train. Both the bodice and skirt were enhanced with applied seed pearls. Her veil of wide silk mist was caught to a cap of silk leaves and she carried white roses and stephanotis on a white lace prayer book with satin ribbons.

Mrs. Patricia Humphrey of Kingston was matron of honor. She wore a full length gown of pink nylon over organza.

Other attendants were Irene Jansen of Kingston sister of the bridegroom, Susan Witko of Shokan, Penny Skea of West Hurley and junior bridesmaid Deborah Carite of Palmyra, N. J., cousin of the bride. Bridal attendants were gowned in shades of blue peau de soie with crowns of blue pearls securing short veils. They carried cascades of pink carnations. The junior bridesmaid was gowned in full length yellow nylon over organza and carried a miniature cascade of mint green carnations.

Sallyjo Bocklemann of Rifton, cousin of the bride was flower girl. She wore a full length gown of pink nylon over organza and carried a cascade of daisies. The flower girl and junior bridesmaid had circlet headpieces of flowers and veils.

Theodore Humphrey of Kingston was best man. Serving as ushers were Walter and Joseph Bundy of West Hurley, brothers of the bride, Robert Stahl of West Hurley, James Jansen of Kingston, brother of the bridegroom was junior usher, Randy Jansen of Kingston was ring-bearer for his uncle.

A reception for 120 guests was held after the ceremony at Ray's Riverside Restaurant.

For a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, Mrs. Jansen wore a blue linen ensemble with white accessories and a corsage of white roses and stephanotis. Upon their return the couple will make their home at 105 Hone Street, this city.

The bride is a graduate of Ontario High School, Class of 1965 and is employed at Grand Union, Kingston Shopping Plaza. Mr. Jansen is employed at Benedictine Hospital.

Bennett School Is Member of National Fitness Association

In an effort to recognize those students who are physically fit and to create an awareness of the importance of a healthy and fit body, Bennett Elementary School of the Ontario School District participates in the American Association of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation's program of Physical Fitness.

This program, composed of seven tests, each of which measures a different phase of fitness, includes the 50 yard dash, 600 yard run, shuttle run, pull-ups, sit-ups, standing broad jump and softball throw. A boy or girl is considered totally fit if he or she possesses the speed, endurance, agility, co-ordination and strength to pass all the tests with scores above the 50th percentile as compared to national norms. Achieving 80 per cent or more on all the tests indicates an excellent degree of fitness.

Under the direction of Mr. Ronald Vanni, principal of the Bennett School, the fitness tests were administered to all 4th, 5th, and 6th grade students. At a recent assembly Miss Carol Okoren, physical education instructor, presented certificates and emblems to the 60 boys and girls who passed the tests.

Awards were as follows: Fourth Grade: Kathy Burkhardt, Pat Breuckner, Loys Buley, Alicia Collins, Nancy Steiner, Virginia Tucker.

Fifth Grade: Pat Adels Mary Bachor, David Barringer, Rose Marie Bodie, JoAnne Donlon, Annette Faulkner, Alex Fontanes, Raymond Hunlock, Sandy Malek, Jackie Martin, Colleen McGoughlin, Mary Pat Molloy, Joyce Monaco, Kim Thayer, Sue Tyler.

Dear Kids:

Well, we finally made it. Yes, your stodgy old parents are lolling on the beach in Acapulco... fishing (Dad caught a whopper yesterday), meeting loads of wonderful new people and dancing every night! Yes, dancing!

You know how long it took me to convince your father that dancing wasn't just for you younger folk... but three free lessons at Arthur Murray did the trick. Now there's no stopping him... fox trots, waltzes, sambas, even the merengue! As you kids would say, "We're having a ball!"

Now is the time to break loose! Learn all the exciting dances. Join a lively set! Take a free lesson at Arthur Murray... tonight, tomorrow night or the night after that—or any three nights you choose. For information, call or visit

PLACING WEDDING GIFTS FOR GUESTS TO VIEW

Q: A friend has asked me to take charge of arranging her wedding presents which will be brought to the assembly room of our church for guests to view. Never having done this before, I haven't the remotest idea of how to go about it. Can you give me any help?

A: Tables covered with plain white damask tablecloths or sheets are placed along the sides of the room. They may be decorated with white ribbons or artificial flowers, and the sides may be draped with tulle net or pleated cheesecloth. Very valuable gifts are better put in close contrast with others of like quality—or others entirely different in character. Colors should be carefully grouped. Two presents, each lovely, can be completely destructive of each other if the colors clash. Pieces that "jar" when appearing together should be placed as far apart as possible, perhaps moved to other surroundings.

Sometimes china is put on one table, silver on another, glass on another, but a more attractive arrangement is made by combining textures and shapes. A badly designed piece of silverware should not be left among beautiful examples, but be placed among articles that do not reveal the lack of fineness in direct comparison. Of course, avoid grouping duplicates.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Joe Weber, the winning pitcher, powered a grand slam home run in the second inning of Tuesday's City Baseball League archlighter at Dietz Stadium and it touched off a chain of events:

- 1) It paced Schovel Tree Service to an upset 7-4 victory over league leading Herzog Construction.
- 2) It dropped Herzog's into second place behind Elmer's Inn (4-1) and moved Schovel's (4-3) into third place ahead of Montgomery Ward (3-3).
- 3) It forced a playoff of a 10-inning, 1-1, tie between Elmer's and the Lions Club to determine the first half winner. The game will be played at a later date.

Second Half Starts

Second half action starts in the two loop tonight, but names of the opposing teams were not announced.

A Sunday doubleheader has been scheduled as follows: 5 p.m.—Elmer's vs. Port Even Schovel's vs. Montgomery Ward's.

Weber's second inning blast came off Herzog starter Lonnie McAndrew, who was chased after yielding all seven Schovel tallies in five innings. In all fairness, it must be reported that seven walks and shoddy support fattened the Schovel total.

Weber went all the way for Schovel's giving up four singles and striking out four. McAndrew whiffed 11 during his stay. Errors figured in all the Herzog tallies and few of the Schovel markers were authentic. Len Whitten singled in a run in the second.

Paul Giannuzzi had two singles for Schovel's.

BATTING — Lou Brock, St. Louis, rapped two singles and a double, stole his 35th base, drove in one run and scored the other two in the Cardinals' 3-2 triumph over San Francisco.

PITCHING — Denny McLain, Detroit, stopped New York on seven hits for his sixth straight victory as the Tigers whipped the Yankees 8-0 and dropped them 12 games out of first place in the American League, further they've been out this season.

Columbus Tops Atlanta Club, 2-0

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

When Atlanta pitchers take the mound these days, they are missing the most necessary ingredient of victory. It has nothing to do with their pitching. They just need runs.

They have had none in their last 39 innings. They have had only three in the last six games. The Crackers have lost six out of their last seven games — five of them through shutouts — and the league lead.

Pat Jarvis was the victim of the crumbling Cracker offense Tuesday night as Columbus blanked Atlanta 2-0.

He held Columbus, now leading the league, to five hits. His relievers, Chi Chi Olivo and Arnie Umbach, allowed them none.

In other games, Buffalo split a doubleheader with Toronto, taking the first game 7-0 and dropping the second 5-1. Rochester tripped Syracuse 4-2, and Toledo's doubleheader at Jacksonville was postponed because of rain.

Columbus pitcher John Gelnar scattered five Cracker hits and got all the offense he needed, Jerry May's fifth inning home run and Gene Michael's run-scoring single in the seventh.

Carl Willey recorded his first victory of the year for Buffalo, shutting out Toronto 7-0 in the first game of the twin bill, but the Maple Leafs rebounded with a five-hit pitching performance by rookie Gary Waslewski to take the second game, 5-1.

Rochester pushed across three runs in the eighth inning to support Bill Short's sterling pitching through seven innings. Short held Syracuse to two hits in seven innings before giving way to Herm Starrette, who held on for Rochester's 4-2 victory.

Lions Club Tops Trailer Park, 8-5

Lions Club scored five runs in the sixth inning to beat Rosendale Trailer Park, 8-5, and tie the losers for first place in the Rondout Valley Babe Ruth league. Darkness halted the game after the sixth inning.

Zip Zacheo was the winner on a three-hitter. Tom Becker took the setback.

Throat Examination Scheduled for Hagen

DETROIT (AP) — Walter Hagen, 72, one of the grand old men of golf, was scheduled to check into Henry Ford Hospital today for a throat examination.

Hagen won the British Open title four times and the U.S. Open twice.

Hagen's son, Walter Hagen Jr., representative here of a sports magazine, said his father had been undergoing cobalt treatment at his home in Traverse City Mich. for the past year.

NLL Giants Win, 3-2, Over Braves

Ron Burris outdueled Bob Adams as the Giants nipped the Canfield Electric Braves, 3-2, in a National Little League game.

The winners had only one hit but managed to score the tying and winning run in the fourth. John Tucker had three of the Braves' four safeties, including a double.

Line score:

Braves	002 000-2	4
Giants	100 20X-3	1

Bob Adams and Steve Reddick; Ron Burris and Fred Hommel.

Clancy Pitches Jays to 4-1 Win

Doug Clancy hurled a to-hitter and helped his cause with a pair of doubles as the Jays beat the Hawks, 4-1, in a Jaycee Little League game.

The winners broke a 1-1 tie with three runs in the fifth frame. George Stubb and Kevin McGowan hit doubles.

Line score:

Jays	100 030-4	5
Hawks	010 000-1	2

Doug Clancy and George Stubb; Joel Helmrich and Don Mills.

Lions Club Nips Ward Nine, 5-4

Lions Club scored in the first innings to beat Montgomery Ward, 5-4, in an American Little League game.

John Longendyke and Pete Fabiano divided six of the winners' seven hits equally. Gregg VanDine had a double and single for Montgomery Ward.

Winner Bill Samuels walked eight and fanned 11 while giving up three hits.

Reading Defeats Elmira Pioneers

The Reading Indians rallied for three runs in the last of the ninth — two on a homer by rookie John Fouse — to defeat the Elmira Pioneers 5-4 in the Class AA Eastern League Tuesday night.

Pittsfield defeated Williamsport 9-2 to draw within three and a half games of league-leading Elmira. In another game, York defeated Springfield 2-1.

Elmira had rallied for two runs and a 4-2 lead in the top of the ninth, but Fred Beene, the Pioneer's ace reliever, could not hold it. Beene gave up the home run to Fouse that tied the game. He later issued a walk and a single and was lifted for another reliever, Johnny Hogg. Hogg gave up a single to Vern Fuller that scored the winning run.

Hurley Dodgers In 33-3 Romp

Dodgers scored the most lopsided win in the area this season, stopping the Giants, 33-3, in a Hurley Little League game. A 19 run surge in the second inning was the keynote.

Wayne Brinkman of the winners led a 32-hit attack with three doubles and a pair of singles. Bob Dolson, Mike Weber and Dave Kwasnoski also stroked five hits each while Don Larios had four safeties.

Line score:

Dodgers	2 19 9 300-33	32
Giants	0 0 1 020-3	5

Bill Ebelheiser and Dave Kwasnoski; Bruce Hurley, Bob Johnson, Dan Brown and Mike Tyrrell.

Avenges Loss

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Australia's Ron Clarke, beaten by Kenyon flash Kipchoge Keino in his 5,000-meter specialty last week, avenged the loss Tuesday by defeating the African policeman in an international track meet here.

Clarke was timed in 13:26.4, best ever for the 5,000 in the Olympic Stadium. Keino, who clocked 13:26.2, second fastest 5,000 ever in beating Clarke last Friday, did 13:30.4. Belgium's Gaston Roelants, world record holder in the 3,000-meter steeplechase, was third in 13:34.8.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept employment advertisements from employers covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act if they offer less than minimum wages or pay wage differentials based on sex. Most employees engaged in interstate commerce are covered by the act. For such employees, the minimum wage is $1.15 an hour and time and one-half for hours worked over 40 in a week. Beginning September 3, 1964, most employees in certain large retail service, construction and other businesses engaged in or producing goods for commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and time and one-half for hours worked over 40 in a week. The act also requires equal pay for equal work for men and women. If you are covered by the act, you have questions concerning the Fair Labor Standards Act, call or write the U. S. Labor Department's local office at 851 Grand Ave., Bronx, N. Y. 10452 Wyandotte 2-1235

Record 551 Killed During Holiday Travel

CHICAGO (AP)—Traffic accidents killed 551 persons during the Fourth of July weekend, establishing a record for a three-day observance of the holiday.

Last year's final figure of 504 was the previous record for a three-day Independence Day holiday. In the four-day July 4 observance in 1963, there were 557 deaths in traffic.

The National Safety Council had estimated in a preholiday tabulation that 470 to 570 persons would be killed in traffic.

Mintz Pleads Innocent Today To Conspiracy

NEW YORK (AP)—State Assemblyman Hyman E. Mintz pleaded innocent in Supreme Court today to a conspiracy indictment.

He is charged with a conspiracy to bribe a New York City detective.

Mintz, who was arrested last June 2 at his home in South Fallsburg, did not appear in court. His plea was entered by his attorney.

Former Fallsburgh Police Chief Carl Kaplan is also charged in the indictment. He has pleaded innocent.

The Mintz indictment concerned an alleged plan to bribe a detective in an attempt to learn what evidence had been presented to a grand jury.

The grand jury investigation was to determine whether any crime had been committed in connection with obtaining a license for the Finger Lakes Race Track in Farmington.

Egyptian Plane Crashes Today, 30 People Dead

CAIRO (AP)—A Soviet-built Egyptian air force plane with a Russian crew crashed in the desert near Suez today, killing 30 of the 31 persons aboard, a military announcement said.

A Russian gunner bailed out safely and walked to the nearest military post to report the crash, a spokesman said.

The big Antonov transport was bound for Yemen with one Egyptian officer, 21 soldiers and a Soviet crew of nine, the spokesman reported.

The plane went down within sight of the main highway across the desert between Cairo and Suez.

Payless Payday

MANILA (AP)—The Philippine government's 350,000 employees had a payless payday today because Congress still hadn't passed the budget for the new fiscal year. The auditor general refused to issue paychecks.

The Senate and House of Representatives have reportedly reached agreement in principle on a compromise appropriations act after weeks of wrangling. Final approval was expected by Friday, barring last-minute hitches.

South, West . . .

forced several families from their homes. There was some light flooding also in west-central and northeastern Kansas, and northwestern Missouri Tuesday night.

Winds of tornadic proportion raked sections of Oklahoma and at least two tornadoes were sighted Tuesday. There were some injuries and property damages. Winds hit 80 to 90 m.p.h. at Oklahoma City and Ponca City. Hail up to an inch in diameter fell during an inch-hour storm that brought an inch of rain at Oklahoma City.

A funnel cloud was sighted at Mexico, Mo., northwest of St. Louis, but there were no reports of injuries or property damages.

About two inches of rain fell in north-central Wisconsin, but in other sections of the state a late frost was said to have caused heavy damage to corn crops.

In New England and portions of the Northeast the severe lack of ground moisture continued.

Drought in . . .

has threatened to take the dispute back to the Supreme Court. A commission announcement of the hearing and meeting said, "The Delaware valley is at the low ebb of a four-year drought. Conditions are so critical that the Delaware River basin is considering declaring a drought emergency."

The region included in the river basin extends from the Catskill Mountains of New York through eastern Pennsylvania and western New Jersey to southern Delaware.

Two Say Innocent In Rochester To Narcotics Charges

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A steel industrialist's granddaughter and a young man quit college to become a civil rights worker pleaded innocent Tuesday to felony indictments charging violation of state laws relating to narcotics.

Miss Susan Ryerson, 22, of Rochester, and Peter I. DeLissovoy, 23, of Chicago, who had been free on $10,000 bail each, appeared in Monroe County Court. Judge Austin W. Erwin Jr. ordered their bail reduced to $2,500 each.

Judge Erwin adjourned Miss Ryerson's case to July 12. DeLissovoy's case was set down for July 19.

The indictments accused both defendants of conspiracy to sell marijuana, possession with intent to sell or give away more than one ounce of marijuana and possession of more than a quarter-ounce of marijuana.

Miss Ryerson also faced two counts of being an accessory to possession of marijuana and one count of aiding and abetting possession of the drug.

Police claimed Miss Ryerson and DeLissovoy, who has written magazine articles about the civil rights drive in the south, had been mailing the marijuana to other people, most of them college students, in Massachusetts, Mississippi, Georgia, North Carolina and other southern states.

Miss Ryerson, granddaughter of Edward L. Ryerson Jr., former board chairman of Inland Steel Co., attended Radcliffe College, Cambridge, Mass., and was a teacher at the exclusive Harley School in Rochester.

School officials informed parents of pupils that she had been relieved of her duties for the final few days of the school term and that her future status at Harley was undecided.

Harley, before the arrest, when "reflecting her desire to resume her studies," it was agreed she would not return in the fall.

DeLissovoy, whose father is a designer for a large Chicago printing company, left Harvard University to join the civil rights crusade.

LBJ Is Hedging On Whether He'll Talk to Governors

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson canvassed the legislative outlook with Democratic congressional leaders today, chatted with a throng of singing, shrieking Texas youngsters, and applied a dash of cold water to the upcoming National Governors' Conference.

Johnson told reporters that he has no plans to attend the session of governors, who meet July 25-29 in Minneapolis. Told that the conference program lists him to speak on the 27th, he inquired: "27th of what?"

An official release from conference press headquarters says Johnson is slated to speak at the state dinner Tuesday, July 27, while Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey will talk the day before.

Johnson didn't deny flatly that he will show up.

Humphrey and Democratic Senate and House leaders held one of their weekly sessions with Johnson this morning. The President received assurance that the House is going to pass the voting rights bill and the Senate the medicare bill.

After the leaders left, Johnson strolled down the White House driveway and took a look at work going on to replace foundations of the front fence.

By the time he got back a few minutes later, 40 Texas youngsters who had been on a special tour of the office end of the White House broke out in song: "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You."

Johnson smiled and heard them out then waded into the throng when photographers wanted a picture of him with the group.

He learned they were from 10 or 12 cities and towns in the lower Rio Grande Valley and, along with eight adults, are on a camping trip that will take them to the New York World's Fair. The youngsters call themselves the Apache Travelers.

Postmaster Choices
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson has nominated 112 postmasters today, including these in New York:

Leslie Landino, Atlanta; Vito A. Botticello, Irving; Greta L. Miller, Melville; Michael J. Hanley, Jr., Newton Falls; David E. Lee, Norwich; Elizabeth C. Hancock, Sanitarium Springs; John F. Campion, Saranac Lake; John J. Cummings, Tonawanda.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market extended its decline into a second session early this afternoon.

Trading was very dull. Brokers saw the fall in prices as an expected reaction to last week's sharp rise.

Lack of any news developments kept buying at a low ebb. Towmotor lost about a point after gaining more than 2 Tuesday. Caterpillar Tractor was off about half a point.

Caterpillar declined to comment on rumors that it was negotiating to acquire Towmotor, which said Tuesday it was holding merger discussions but didn't identify the other company.

Motors failed to find strength in the report that new car sales in June were the highest for any month. General Motors and Chrysler lost about a point.

Aircrafts, electronics, utilities, nonferrous metals, chemicals, rails, oils, airlines, tobaccos and drugs declined.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was off .9 at 319.5 with industrials off 1.4, rails off .6 and utilities off .4.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was down 3.34 at 869.84.

The loss deepened as the session progressed. Prices were mixed in full trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate and Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged.

Want Referendum On Law Favoring Town Patrol Car

Petitions are being circulated among qualified voters of the Town of Rosendale seeking to have submitted for referendum the question of whether or not Local Law No. 1 of 1965 should be repealed.

Local Law No. 1, which authorizes purchase or lease of a car for use by town constables, was approved by the town board after a public hearing.

The acquisition of a car for town constable use raised a controversy in the township. A number of residents protested the purchase or lease of a car for that purpose.

By the petitions now being circulated the signers are protesting the adoption by the town board of the Local Law which authorized the car.

Petitioners under Article 3, Section 24 of the Municipal Home Rule Law seek to have the matter submitted to the voters at the next general election, or, in the alternative, at a special election to be held for that purpose.

In order to sign the petition a voter must have voted at the last general election.

Norman Kellar is attorney for the petitioners who seek to have the matter submitted to the voters.

Signs in French To Help Canadians In Albany Area

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The State Thruway Authority has erected large signs, in French, along the superhighway in the Albany area to guide home-bound Canadian travelers.

R. Burdell Bixby, authority chairman, explained today that the signs were put up because many motorists from Canada's French-speaking regions had missed the proper exit—Albany Interchange 23, which connects the Thruway with the Northway. The Northway, part of Interstate Route 87, extends toward the U.S.-Canadian border.

Bixby said many Canadians who speak only French had continued west as far as Fultonville instead of exiting at Albany.

Two miles before Albany Interchange 23, a sign reads "Province de Quebec, Sortie, Route 87, 8 miles," indicating that traffic for Quebec and Route 87 should exit eight miles further along.

Then, two miles in advance of the Northway Interchange, motorists are advised that traffic for Quebec and Route 87 should take the "prochaine sortie"—the next exit.

Since its election last October, the Labor party's majority in the 630-seat Commons had varied from three to six, according to the number of special elections pending. It now stands at four.

Despite this slender margin the government had suffered only one previous Commons defeat, and that on a minor matter of House procedure.

Would Stem Rumors

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—A Hungarian Communist party press chief has demanded more adequate information for the public on domestic and foreign affairs to stem rumors.

Writing in the July issue of the party's official monthly, Istvan Darvasi said inadequate information "for a long time made party members prone to giving credit to wild rumors about the dispute in the international Communist movement."

'Operation Hammer'
KUCHING, Malaysia (AP)—Some 5,000 Chinese villagers were gathered behind barbed wire today at the start of the Malaysian government's "Operation Hammer" to stamp out Chinese-led Communist terrorism in the Borneo state of Sarawak.

The Chinese were grouped in five guarded relocation centers along a 10-mile stretch of highway south of Kuching.

Say Wilson Staying Despite Defeats In Commons Body

LONDON (AP)—Spokesmen for Britain's Labor government said today that Prime Minister Harold Wilson would not resign despite three staggering defeats in the House of Commons.

The spokesmen said the issue at stake was not considered vital to the government's program.

It was clear, however, that the government had suffered great embarrassment and its floor managers in Commons had been outwitted. The Conservatives apparently had tricked a number of Labor members into going home too early.

The votes came early today during debate on the government's finance bill embodying stiffer taxes and a new system of company taxation. The vote added a clause limiting the effect of the new capital gains tax on mutual funds.

Until midnight the debate dragged on. Some Conservatives appeared to be going home, leaving only 40 or so in the chamber. The Labor floor managers assumed they had plenty of supporters in case of a surprise vote and let some of their more elderly members go home.

Most of the Conservatives had parked their cars nearby and turned back unobtrusively.

Edward Heath, Conservative finance spokesman and the architect of the ambush, told the House: "The lesson for the government is plain—it should resign and resign quickly and let the country record its verdict."

Since its election last October, the Labor party's majority in the 630-seat Commons had varied from three to six, according to the number of special elections pending. It now stands at four.

Despite this slender margin the government had suffered only one previous Commons defeat, and that on a minor matter of House procedure.

the federal government pays three-fourths of the project cost, and the city and state share one-eighth. The state's share through recent action, however, will be less than an eighth because of certain state credits it claims in project areas.

The city is also credited for certain public works and facilities completed in a project area and its actual capital outlay is expected to be small, if any.

The Common Council is expected to act on the state capital grant measure at its July 13 meeting.

Satellite Boss Plans To Slacken His Pace

WASHINGTON (AP)—Leo D. Welch, chairman and chief executive officer of the Communications Satellite Corp., announced today he wants to retire from active direction of the corporation.

The former chairman of Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), who has been the active head of Comsat since it was set up in 1963, said he had advised the directors May 21: "The reason is that I wish to slow down the pace of my activity."

Welch, 67, served almost 20 years with Standard Oil before he took the $25,000-a-year Comsat job. As chairman of Standard, his pay was $200,000 a year.

To Confer on Rioting

ROCKAWAY BEACH, Mo. (AP)—This lake resort's city council has called a town meeting Friday night to discuss steps for preventing a recurrence of its Fourth of July rioting by college-age visitors.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

by ROGER E. SPEAR
Investment Advisor and Analyst
Additional Purchase Of Strong Rail Advised

Q) "I hold 50 shares of Norfolk & Western and am contemplating buying 50 more. The yield is very attractive, but can a stock be safe paying $7.00 annually and earning $8.71 last year? Why is the stock down so much from last year's high, while Chicago & North Western has moved up?"

A) If safe income is your goal, I would certainly buy an additional 50 Norfolk & Western—which is one of the strongest of all rails. I do not believe the stock can be considered to be on a $7 annual rate. It pays $6 regularly and last year declared a special of $1, which I do not believe will necessarily be repeated.

The stock has come down from its 1964 high, registered when rails were being picked up by traders because of interest in forthcoming mergers. Chicago & North Western has held up well, due to the remarkable management job done by Chairman Heilmann. It is speculative, however, and I would stick to NFK.

Q) "We have recently purchased stock in Coffee-Mat Corporation. It's a young company which makes a new type of vending machine. Do you think a stock of this type would be safe to hold during a recession, if it comes?"

A) If by safe, you mean will it resist any general price decline, my answer will have to be no. Coffee-Mat has compiled a good growth rate in recent years, but it is relatively unseasoned and would, in my opinion, not only follow the market, but might do comparatively worse. This is not to disparage your company, which appears to be well managed. I would point out to you that Coffee-Mat dropped in price 20 per cent during June's relatively moderate decline.

If you are concerned about a recession which is by no means yet evident—hold a consumer issue like General Foods or Winn-Dixie Stores.

Area Men Inducted For Army Service

Six area residents were inducted into the U. S. Army through the selective service local boards 18 and 19 July 1 and were forwarded to the army reception center at Fort Dix, N. J.

They include John E. Rylewicz, 123 Newkirk Avenue; John M. Gillen, 16 Derrenbacher Street; George R. Van Amburgh, Marlboro; Paul J. Zanoli, Wawarsing; Barry L. Finger, Saugerties; and Benjamin Barringer Jr., Kerhonkson.

Copies of the order were served on the clerk of the school board and each member at an executive meeting held last night.

The order restrains the board of education members from conducting a hearing scheduled Saturday night to hear charges filed against the school principal.

Appointed Principal Of Port Jervis High

Julius L. Sylvia, assistant principal of Poughkeepsie High School, has been appointed principal of Port Jervis High School. He will replace William E. Lloyd, who reportedly resigned "for personal reasons."

Lloyd, it was reported, plans to return to his former position on the school faculty as a science instructor.

Sylvia was appointed assistant principal at the Poughkeepsie school in July, 1962 to succeed Harold Long, who retired.

Jubilant July

Maps show Weather Bureau's estimated forecast of expected average temperature, precipitation through July 31.

It will be cool in the East and warm in the West with a buffer zone in the middle.

Forecast Given Through Monday

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Extended forecasts for Upstate New York, prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau, from Thursday through Monday:

Cooler than normal for early July. Rather cool at the beginning, briefly warmer about Saturday. Cooler again at the end of the period. Showers ending at the beginning followed by several fair days. Some indication of a spotty shower period about Saturday.

Daytime high temperatures will range in the 70s to low 80s most of the period. Nighttime lows mainly in the 50s, but down to the 40s in some mountain and northern areas.

Senator's Expense

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators may soon be making more free trips home and getting larger telephone and postage allowances.

The Senate Appropriations Committee approved Tuesday a $190.8 million appropriations bill to finance the operation of Congress in the present fiscal year. The measure would allow senators six expense-paid round trips home a year instead of the present two trips.

Fire Code on File

Common Council Majority

Leader John R. Machione, as chairman of the council's Laws and Rules Committee, today announced that a copy of the city's proposed fire-prevention code is on file at the city clerk's office, City Hall, and may be inspected there. The code was received recently by the Board of Fire Commissioners, other interested groups and persons. The city clerk's office is open during the summer from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Monday through Friday.

Navy Helps Man Track Down Ships After 60 Years

A local resident who has owned postcards of 29 American battleships for the past 60 years finally found out when they were all launched.

John H. Haas, 66 Ravine Street recently requested information from the local Navy recruiting office concerning the launching date of some 28 vessels, pictures of which he has had in his possession since the early part of this century. Workers in the recruiting office, including John Gibbons, William Keaton and William Quinn advised that he write the Navy Times division of Army Times Publishing Company in Washington, D. C. Five days later he got an answer.

Servicemen working in the Washington office pounced on the job and found the requested information in their files. In a letter dated July 1, Haas was told that the office had traced the launching dates back as far as 1887 for one ship, the U. S. Cruiser Boston.

New Paltz Police Department Will Have Scuba Team

Formation of a SCUBA team for the Village of New Paltz Police Department is planned, and a department spokesman said today that two patrolmen will undergo training later this month at the Mioriello Park pool. Police Commissioner Harold Phillips reported that Patrolman Calvert Harvey of High Falls, and Vincent Van Demark, Kingston, will be instructed in the first phase of scuba diving by Robert Truitt, New Paltz, a water front director and aquatic instructor.

Two state police divers have been asked to assist in instructing Harvey and Van Demark and cooperate with the New Paltz police officials in organizing the SCUBA team.

The first phases of the training course for the two patrolmen will be held from July 19 through July 31. As the course progresses further instructions will be given in search patterns, salvage, rescue work and dives to be made at Williams Lake, according to Commissioner Phillips.

House Is Expected To Back Smoke Note

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is expected to mirror the Senate and approve compromise legislation to require a health warning on all cigarette packages.

This compromise bill cleared the Senate Tuesday by voice vote. How quickly the House acts depends on when the Democratic leadership decides to put aside temporarily its debate on the voting rights bill.

House approval would send the cigarette measure to the White House.

Four Are Injured In Traffic Here

Two teenagers were injured in a car-motorcycle mishap at Lucas Avenue and Emerson Street Tuesday and two young boys were hurt in two downtown car-pedestrian accidents.

Michael Rice, 6, of 126 Hasbrouck Avenue, who suffered a head injury and laceration of the right ear, police said, when he ran from behind parked cars on Hasbrouck Avenue, near Murray Street was reported in fair condition at the Benedictine Hospital today.

The car, owned by the Miron Building Products Co., Inc., of 60 Ferry Street, was driven by Sam Balinson, 33, of 236 Washington Avenue. Officers Anthony Turk and Patrick Colbert investigated the mishap reported at 4:54 p. m.

Also reported fair at the Benedictine today was Thomas Bell, 10, of 13 Spruce Street, who suffered injuries to the knees, elbows, back and scalp, in the other car-pedestrian mishap reported at 3:30 p. m. on Abel Street near Block Park.

Police listed the driver of the car as John F. Gohl, 32, of 107 Church Street, Poughkeepsie, and the report said the boy ran from a wooded area into the road. Officer George Dougherty investigated.

Both boys were taken to the hospital by Fatum ambulance. James A. Zammito, 18, of Groff Street, Town of Ulster involved in the uptown accident, was treated at Kingston Hospital for knee and elbow injuries. He drove the cycle and with him was George Carlson, 16, of 10 Merlina Avenue, who was also treated at the hospital for elbow injuries.

Police said the car involved, driven by Charles L. Lamphere, of 50 Westbrook Place, was making a left turn into Emerson Street. Officers James Scott and Charles Diers investigated.

Woman Injured 3 Cars Damaged In Auto Mishap

Three cars were damaged, a woman was injured and court action is pending, as the result of a traffic accident at 4 p. m. Tuesday at the intersection of Routes 32 and 213, Town of Rosendale.

State Trooper W. E. Wiedemann, Kingston substation, said James Fleming, 18, Rosendale, was driving north on Route 32 and John Wells, 26, New Paltz, was driving his car across the intersection when the vehicles collided. After the impact, troopers said, the left rear of Wells' vehicle hit the front of a parked car owned by Leslie Lane, Bearsville.

According to Trooper David Wachtel, Eileen Lane, 41, of Bearsville, sustained neck and back injuries. She was treated at New Paltz Medical Center. Fleming was driving a car owned by William Hutter, Rosendale.

Quinn Joining Navy Recruiters In Local Office

William Quinn, aviation electrician's mate first class, has recently reported to the Navy Recruiting Branch Station in the central post office building in Kingston. Quinn will join Chiefs John Gibbons and William Keaton in counseling the young men of the Kingston - Saugerties-Greene County area on the opportunities offered by the U. S. Navy.

Quinn is married to the former Jeanette Giambone of Brooklyn, N. Y. They have two sons, William, age 4 and James, age 2. The couple plan to settle in Glasco, New York during his tour of assignment here. Prior to being assigned to the Navy Career Counseling Service, Quinn had been stationed in San Diego, Calif., aboard the aircraft carrier, U.S.S. Yorktown, which he was assigned to Helicopter Anti-Submarine Squadron Four.

Sees Better Relations

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike, who Sunday ignited the controversy over the rebaptism of Luci Baines Johnson, says she has innocently helped better Catholic-Episcopalian relations.

Bishop Pike's comments came Tuesday after a member of the Christian Unity Secretariat at Vatican City—in effect—backed Bishop Pike's denunciation of Miss Johnson's rebaptism into the Roman Catholic Church. In his seven last Sunday, the bishop pointed out that both Episcopal and Catholic churches teach that baptism is "an unrepeatable sacrament."

Leaves for Talks

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, left today for consultations in Honolulu and a personal leave, U.S. spokesmen said.

The spokesmen did not say how long Westmoreland was expected to be away.

MONUMENT TO AMERICAN PIONEERS—This ruggedly beautiful 32-square mile mountainous area, embraced by Cumberland Gap National Historic Park near Middlesboro, Ky., is one of the beauty spots of the East. The park, at an apex where Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia meet, commemorates the trek of pioneers who came through the mountains at this point and opened the American west to settlement. Circuit Leader Conducts Series For Witnesses

NEW PALTZ — The New Paltz Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses has just received notice of the visit of the circuit director, Anthony Conte, appointed by the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society to make his usual semi-annual supervisory visit with the congregation as part of the program of Jehovah's Witnesses for the constant improvement of their ministerial service for the community.

After the opening program of the week, Tuesday evening, which encompassed the regular weekly ministry school and missionary service meeting, Mr. Conte outlined the activities in connection with the remaining days of his stay. Time has been set for all members of the congregation to participate in actual house-to-house ministry with either Mr. Conte or his wife, who is also engaged in the missionary work of Jehovah's Witnesses full time.

Mr. Horne, overseer of the local congregation, said, "We encourage all in the community to benefit from his spiritually uplifting program with us." There will be a discussion Saturday 8 p. m. based on New Things Learned from the Bible." Both this meeting and the special public Bible lecture on Sunday at 3 p. m. will be held at the Kingdom Hall, VanAlst Rd., and free and open to the public. Mr. Conte will be the speaker on Sunday and his topic will be Does Religion Guide Your Life. This lecture will be followed by a study group, question and answer style, the Bible topic being: Increase Your Praise of Jehovah.

Court of Honor Held by Scouts

Troop No. 77 held Court of Honor ceremonies recently in the meeting room of the Methodist Church.

The troop was commended for the scouting proficiency it displayed at the District Camporee held last month at Midway Park. Out of the 14 troops from townships all over the district, Troop No. 77 was successful in winning two of the coveted awards of merit. This reflects not only on the scouts who earned these awards but also on the leadership provided by Scoutmaster Fred Sutter and Assistant Scoutmasters Lee Carlson, Al Douglas and George Schneider.

Individual awards were presented as follows: Bruce Ackery, first class; Jeff Ackery, Star Scout; John DeAngelo, Doug Martin and Bob Stanneyer. Merit badges were presented to Bob Stanneyer for dramatics, scholarship, firemanship; John DeAngelo, hiking, geology, cooking and firemanship; and safety; Ted Smith, public health; Charles Cole, scholarship, dramatics; Lee Rhinehart, dramatics; Tom Corwin, mile runner award; Richard Schneider, weather, soil and water conservation; Louis Benson, safety; Ken Silverman, firemanship; Dennis Fisher, firemanship; Paul Fisher, firemanship; Paul Schneider, geology; Doug Martin, reading; Bruce Fisher, firemanship and safety.

Art Show Saturday

The New Paltz Art Association has announced that it has once again been invited to exhibit at the annual Elting Memorial Library Fair Saturday, July 10.

Each member may exhibit three paintings, which should be framed and ready to hang. However, there will be no limit on the number of smaller paintings or sketches by members to be donated for sale for the benefit of the library.

Friendly Town Folks

Families in this area who are sharing their homes with the Fresh Air Children from New York City are Dr. and Mrs. Richard Ordway, Mr. and Mrs. William Schmalkuche Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Polatsek and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Martin.

Mrs. Martin is in charge of the arrangements for the visits and is assisted by Mrs. Polatsek. The children will remain for a two-week period of time.

Local Boy Wins In State Contest

Michael Bender, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Bender of 61 Millrock Road, New Paltz, and a recent graduate of Cardinal Farley Military Academy, has been notified that he placed second in a state essay contest. The contest was sponsored by the Capital District Peace Council and was judged by the editors of Saturday Review Magazine. The title of his winning essay was Youth Seeks Peaceful Alternatives for the 1960's. His essay was primarily concerned with proposals which the leaders of tomorrow could follow in order that the world remain in a state of peaceful coexistence.

At the same time, Bender was awarded a degree of honor from the National Forensic League for excellent past his degree of merit and for his "outstanding participation in high school special activities." He was captain of Farley's debating team and a member of their Kappa Kappa Gamma Chapter. Bender will be a freshman in the fall at the School of Government of America University, Washington, D. C. He plans to continue on to the Law School and eventually the International Law School.

Memorial Held For 6th Grader

The elementary students of the New Paltz Central School and their teachers recently engaged in a ceremony honoring one of their former companions, Charles J. Linacre. The sixth grade student was killed two months ago by a car while riding his bicycle.

The tree and stone plaque with his name inscribed were dedicated in his memory on the grounds of the Central School. A few words were said by Robert Bassik, elementary principal. The tree and plaque were donated by the elementary school staff of the Central, Duzine and Gardiner schools.

In addition, his sixth grade classmates contributed funds for the purchase of library books which will be inscribed in memory of Charles J. Linacre.

Glasco Schedules Firemen's Bazaar July 16 Weekend

Glasco Fire Department is holding its annual bazaar and fireworks program Friday and Saturday nights, July 16 and 17 at the Glasco Little League field. Concessions and games will be featured on the Friday agenda, when the program will open 6 p. m. A spaghetti dinner will be held Saturday from 6 to 8:30 p. m. at the firehouse. Reservations are not needed.

The fireworks display will be held after the dinner Saturday evening. Anthony Riozzi is chairman of the event.

Glasco firemen are currently canvassing the area for donations.

Political Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Sherman Cooper has recommended that Senate officers and employees be prohibited from handling political campaign funds.

The Kentucky Republican, a member of the Senate Rules Committee, which investigated the Bobby Baker case, said: "We found evidence of his collecting, handling and distributing funds for political campaign purposes."

Calls for Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Strom Thurmond has called again for a congressional investigation of what he termed Communist penetration of civil rights organizations.

Said the South Carolina Republican: "This is a political sacred cow that unless fully investigated objectively is going to be swallowed up whole by the Communists and their left-wing associates in this country."

Alderman of 6th Charges County Force Bars Negro

Sixth Ward Alderman Leonard VanDyke, of 18 Mill Street, who heads the local NAACP Industry Committee, in a statement today, feels that Negro workers lack equal opportunities in the county highway department and cities conditions, which he thinks might require a probe by the State Commission on Human Rights.

"Mr. Paul Barber, recently from the South, is shocked to find no Negroes employed by the Ulster County Highway Department. Looking there for work, Mr. Barber was told that it involved hard labor with pick and shovel. Barber's response was that being from the South, he was accustomed to doing hard work. Mr. Barber was not hired."

VanDyke said as chairman of the NAACP committee, he was contacted by Barber. VanDyke said he visited Mr. Green (Roland H. Green, department superintendent) "at his office on South Manor Avenue." In a previous case, Van Dyke, notes, "one of the qualified Negroes, who applied at the department without being hired, is now employed in private industry. It is also to be noted that the NAACP does not want the highway department to take jobs away from white workers to give to Negro workers."

The NAACP, he said, "wants Negro workers to have an equal opportunity to compete for jobs as they develop. But was there ever a Negro on the highway department in Ulster County? Perhaps the State Commission on Human Rights should be called into this case."

More Pocket Money

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—The average Californian had more pocket money to jingle than residents of any other state during the first three months of 1965, Gov. Edmund G. Brown says.

Gov. Brown reported Tuesday that California's total personal income stood at $59,052,000,000—surpassing the total income of New York for the first time.

Spankings Authorized

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Spankings of grammar school pupils have been authorized by the Berkeley school board to prevent what a member termed "little Caesars." The board voted Tuesday night to permit principals, deans and teachers to spank "as promptly as possible after the offense."

Miss Bohan Has Her Paintings On Exhibition

Miss Mary Bohan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bohan, Ulster Park, is displaying her paintings at an exhibition conducted at the Washington Mountain Arts Center, Inc., Washington Mt. Road, Becket, Mass.

The exhibition is held weekends through this month from noon to 8 p. m.

In her paintings, Miss Bohan seeks to find pictorial equivalents for a personal vision of the world. In her abstract canvases, the inspiration may be a field of grass or calligraphy observed in the rutted surface of a road. Each work is alive in its own plastic space and created as a joyous experience.

Miss Bohan, a sister of Capt. Norman C. Bohan, U.S.N., is a graduate of St. Ursula's Academy and the College of New Rochelle. She also is a graduate of Cooper Union Art School, and received her Masters in Art Education from New York University. She has exhibited at the Peter Cooper Gallery in New York, Bowdoin College, Michigan College and State University College at Cortland.

Her father is executive secretary of the Ulster County Civil Service Commission and an active leader in veterans' organizations.

School Teacher Falls From Tree In His Yard

A 41-year-old Hyde Park school teacher was listed in satisfactory condition Tuesday at Vassar Hospital, where he is under treatment for injuries sustained when he reportedly fell 60 feet from a tree at the rear of his home.

Dover Plains State Police said Edward Waters, Horseshoe Road, Millbrook, suffered fractures of the legs and arms, shock and a possible skull fracture. Waters is an English teacher at Haviland Junior High School, Hyde Park.

Police said Waters reportedly climbed the tree Monday night and accidentally fell. He was found early Tuesday morning by troopers who checked a report from a neighbor that Waters' was heard crying for help.
